

May Postpone Sacco-Vanzetti Execution

Possibility That Governor and Executive Council May Postpone Execution Seen in Judge's Announcement That He Will Decide Defense Motion Thursday Morning—Demonstrations in Favor of Condemned Men Continue Throughout World.

Boston, Aug. 10 (AP).—The possibility that the execution of Nicola Sacco and Bartolomeo Vanzetti might be postponed from early tomorrow was seen when Judge Sanderson of the supreme court announced today that he would not give his decision until tomorrow morning on a motion by defense counsel. He is to decide whether he shall permit a bill of exceptions from his refusal to grant writs of error and habeas corpus to go to the full bench of the supreme court.

However, Governor Fuller, at 12:45 p. m., had made no announcement of his decision on a petition for a stay of execution.

Executive Council in Session.

The executive council was at the State House early this afternoon prepared to hear any communication from the governor. Any recommendation for a stay must be approved by the council. Governor Fuller also had called to the State House all but one of the living former attorneys general of the state, that he might have the benefit of their advice in the case.

Will Go to Federal Courts.

After defense attorneys had visited Sacco and Vanzetti in the death house at the state prison, one of them, Michael Musmanno, announced that if the governor and council refused a respite habeas corpus proceedings would be brought in the federal court.

The attorneys general concluded their conference with Governor Fuller at 1 o'clock. None of them had anything to say.

Council Adjourns to 3:30.

At 1:01 p. m. the members of the executive council were instructed by the governor's office to go out for lunch and to be back between 3 and 3:30 p. m.

Sacco Refuses to Sign.

Nicola Sacco today refused to sign a petition for a writ of habeas corpus which Alfonso Gagliolo, an attorney associated with the Sacco-Vanzetti defense committee, submitted to him at the state prison. Gagliolo, accompanied by another lawyer, was admitted to the death house.

Vanzetti Signs Petition.

Vanzetti signed the petition. Gagliolo, who had come to the prison with Michael Musmanno, another lawyer associated with the defense committee, said after coming from the death house that Sacco had become angry when the petition was shown him, had denounced the courts and had exclaimed:

"They have crucified me for the last seven years. I will have no more to do with them."

Vanzetti, the lawyer said, had seemed pleased at the idea of the petition and had signed readily. Gagliolo said he had talked with the two men in Italian.

Electric Chair Ready.

The electric chair at the Charles-town state prison waited to claim two adjudged murderers whose cause sponsored by radicals of every nation, has become known throughout the world.

Triple Line of Guards.

While a triple line of guards patrolled the great walls of the cheerless penitentiary and other officers guarded nearby streets and bridge approaches, the final hours of the condemned men sped by, unmarked by any departure from death house routine.

Maduros Will Also Die.

With Celestino Maduros, a third slayer who was also to go to the chair early tomorrow and whose life has several times been prolonged because of his self identification with the case of the two others, the prisoners awaited doom with something akin to equanimity.

Sacco Is Indifferent.

Sacco, his three week fast plainly telling on him, has stared daily at the ceiling of his narrow cell, apparently long since indifferent to everything. His guards have expressed the opinion that his only hope is to "cheat" the chair.

Vanzetti Paces Cell.

Vanzetti, whose hunger strike has not been as rigid as that of his companion, has paced his cell feverishly and has been largely preoccupied with numerous letters, some of which have reached the mail. Like Sacco, however, he has ceased to believe that escape is possible. "I die for anarchy," has been the burden of his correspondence.

Maduros Least Concerned.

Maduros seems to have least concern.

Raymond Post Forfeits $25

Ten-Broek Avenue Youth, Arrested on Charge of Driving Car While His License Was Suspended, Failed to Appear—Other Police Court Cases.

Raymond Post of No. 52 Ten-Broek avenue was arrested by Officer Fatum on Tuesday on a charge of driving an automobile while his license to operate a car was suspended. Post furnished cash bail in the sum of $25 for his appearance in police court today, but failed to appear when the case was called and Judge A. H. Van Buren forfeited the amount of the bail.

David Seigel of Rifton was arrested Tuesday by Officer Fatum on a charge of operating a car without the necessary license. The arrest followed a collision between the car Seigel was driving and that of Justice Walter Webber of the town of Ulster on Broadway. Judge Webber's car was considerably damaged. This morning Seigel had his license papers with him and produced them in court. He was fined $10 and warned to always carry them with him in his car.

Charles Wright, a negro employed at the Benedictine Hospital, was arrested Tuesday night on a warrant sworn out by Detective McBeck, a negro, who charged Wright with assault in the third degree in beating her up. Wright entered a plea of not guilty and the hearing was adjourned to August 18. Bail was fixed at $250.

Leonard Cox, arrested for public intoxication on Hone street early this morning, was fined $5.

Young Girl Leads Chicago Rioters

16-Year-Old Girl Leads Chicago Mob Numbering 4,000—Halted by Police Who Resorted to Tear Bombs and Revolver Shots.

Chicago, Aug. 10 (AP).—Led by a 16-year-old girl, a mob, numbering 4,000 men and women, alternately roaring the "Third Internationale" and shouting "mob the police," marched toward the loop district early today. It was dispersed only after a clash with police reserves who resorted to tear bombs and revolver shots.

Sixty-seven men and four women, including the girl leader—Aurora D'Angelo, pretty, bobbed haired high school girl—were arrested. Several persons were reported injured as the mob broke and fled before the stubborn police resistance. The mob, forming after a protest meeting at the Ashland Auditorium, was moving toward the City Hall and Federal Building, urged on by the girl who cried: "On, comrades! Mob the police! Strike! Strike! Sacco and Vanzetti must not die! Automobiles in the street were smashed, and windows were broken as the crowd surged toward the loop.

Skeptical Over Work's Prediction

West Questions Prediction of Secretary of the Interior that Seven Western States Would Reach Agreement on Boulder Dam Project.

Los Angeles, Aug. 10 (AP).—The report of Secretary Work to President Coolidge in which the Interior Secretary was quoted as expressing confidence that the seven western states involved in the Colorado River compact would make an agreement at an early date which would assure passage of the Boulder dam bill through the next session of Congress, was skeptically received in the west today.

The Boulder dam bill would provide for the building by the government of a great flood control and power project near the mouth of the river. Most of the disagreement has been over the proposal for division of power royalties from Boulder dam. Malford Winsor, secretary of the Arizona-Colifornia River Commission, said in reply to Secretary Work's prediction that "the report is unauthorized as far as Arizona is concerned. The Colorado River compact has no relation to the Boulder Canyon dam nor any other dam. In fact, the compact deals only with the allocation of waters of the river."

John L. Bacon of San Diego, president of the Boulder Canyon Dam Association, said that Secretary Work's belief that the compact soon would be ratified by all states was most welcome to California.

Lindbergh Goes From Indianapolis to Detroit.

Indianapolis, Aug. 10 (AP).—Charles A. Lindbergh, continuing his air tour in the interest of the advancement of aviation, took off from the airport here today for Detroit. Before leaving the city he circled about the James Whitcomb Riley Hospital for children in response to a plea of the little patients.

Rat Raising, Dogs and Pigs Before Board

Health Board Hears of Proposed White Rat Farm in City, of a Dog Hospital in the Beehive and of Pigs on North Street Tuesday Evening.

A proposed new industry for the commercial life of Kingston—that of raising white rats to be supplied to hospitals and laboratories—was brought to the attention of the board of health at the regular monthly meeting Tuesday evening at the Central Fire Station. The board also heard about a dog hospital in the tenement house on North Front street that for years was known as "The Beehive," and what had been done in regard to three Italian families keeping pigs on North street.

The Dog Hospital. Dr. Daniel Connelly, city health officer, called the attention of the board to the dog hospital. He said that a number of complaints had been received that a Miss Sleight was maintaining a hospital for dogs in her apartments in the tenement house for years known as The Beehive on North Front street. This building was now owned by Emanuel Metzger, said Dr. Connelly, and Miss Sleight said that as long as Miss Sleight paid her rent he could not dispossess her.

The dog hospital, according to both the health officer and Sanitary Inspector Nathan J. Cook, was a menace to health due to the unsanitary conditions.

After some discussion the board referred the matter to the corporation counsel for action.

Pigs on North Street. There had been complaints received, also, said Dr. Connelly, in regard to three Italian families, Naccarato, Turck and Cotz, keeping pigs at their homes on North street, near East Union street. Dr. Connelly said he had taken the matter up with the families and the owners of the pigs had agreed to have them killed.

"Albino Rat Farm." Mr. Gutfarb, who said he resided on Wrentham street, appeared before the board seeking a permit to establish himself in the white rat raising industry in Kingston. He said he would dispose of the stock from the rat farm to hospitals and laboratories.

In reply to questions by members of the board, he said he did not expect to establish the rat colony in his home as it would not be large enough. What he sought was a large suitable building along the Rondout creek front. He said he had no desire to locate his industry in a residential section as people might object to having a rat farm next door.

According to Mr. Gutfarb there are two white rat colonies in Philadelphia located in the most thickly congested section of the city and 40,000 rats at a time.

Referred to Committee. Mr. Gutfarb, however, would not start with that number of rats as he would first have to see how the business grew.

After some discussion the request was referred to the sanitary committee to report back at the next board meeting. In the meantime Mr. Gutfarb is to seek suitable quarters for his proposed industry and notify the board of what he thought a suitable building that he could obtain to house the industry.

He made it plain that the rats were not allowed their freedom but were kept confined in cages. Bills and claims against the board were read and audited and the reports of the officers, which will be found elsewhere, were adopted. The board then adjourned.

GETS NINETY DAYS IN ALBANY PENITENTIARY.

Edward Frazier, arrested in New York city, was brought back to Saugerties Monday evening by Officer Carle on a charge of petit larceny. Frazier, husky colored man, admitted forging a check on the Bichler Brick Company of Saugerties and cashing it at the Bonacci's store. He received $10 on a check and $10 on a note. Justice Abeel, who tried the case, sentenced Frazier to ninety days in the Albany penitentiary.

WORLD EDUCATION DELEGATES HAVE DAY OF RECREATION.

Toronto, Ont., Aug. 10 (AP).—After two days of strenuous business sessions, delegates to the biennial convention of the World Federation of Education Associations gave their attention today to recreation. All officials and overseas delegates journeyed to Niagara Falls by boat and train while the remainder sought entertainment in Toronto. Tomorrow they resume their sessions.

WOMAN LOSTS LIFE IN LITTLE NIAGARA.

Niagara Falls, N. Y., Aug. 10 (AP).—Miss Virginia Frantz, 21, Cheektowaga, was drowned in the Little Niagara river last night. She was thrown into the water when her canoe upset. Butler nearly lost his life in an attempt to save the woman and was rescued by Louis Kugel. Miss Frantz's body was recovered.

Coolidge Helps Start Memorial

President to Speak at Exercises Which Will Mark the Beginning of a Gigantic Memorial to Washington, Jefferson, Lincoln and Roosevelt—Figures of Four Men to be Carved in Side of Granite Mountain.

Keystone, S. D., Aug. 10 (AP).—On a towering granite mountain rising proudly in the midst of the Black Hills, man laid his hand today to begin a gigantic memorial to four American Presidents who chartered the course for their country's progress.

The mountain from which the figures of Washington, Jefferson, Lincoln and Roosevelt are to be carved, was so deep in the forests that President Coolidge, with the leading role in the dedication, had a saddle horse reserved here for him for the four mile journey to Rushmore, the name by which the memorial rock is known.

Although Rushmore is in a remote part of the Black Hills, the people of South Dakota, sponsors of the memorial, hope within a year to bring it close to every one by the construction of a modern highway.

The Rushmore memorial is to be carved by Gutzon Borglum. Beginning the head of Washington today, he hopes to follow as quickly as funds are provided with the figures of the other three Presidents.

The completed memorial, the largest of its kind in the world, is intended to typify the growth of the United States through four Presidents who took dominant parts in the country's progress.

The program today called for the principal address by President Coolidge, his first prepared speech since coming into the Black Hills. Senator Norbeck, of this state, was to preside.

College Books Scored by Deacons

Works by Freud, Shaw and Wells Among Those Titled "Indecent, Immoral and Filthy." By Baptist Deacons After Inspection Tour of College Libraries—Tell Governor About Them.

Tallahassee, Fla., Aug. 10 (AP).—Freud, George Bernard Shaw, and H. G. Wells, were among the authors included in a list of "indecent, immoral and filthy" books by Baptist deacons after inspection tour of college libraries.

The Rev. Bunyan Stephens, who headed the delegation to the governor yesterday, said they did not represent the church officially but were "citizens who wished to call the governor's attention to the disgraceful books used in the state institutions."

Their conclusions were reached after an investigation of the libraries of the Florida State College for Women and the University of Florida.

The alleged offensive books listed included text and reference works of sociology, psychology and psycho-analysis.

Church Unity At Critical Stage

World Conference on Faith and Order Work Behind Closed Doors in Effort to Reach Agreement on Fundamental Questions—Will Hold Full Session Thursday.

Lausanne, Switzerland, Aug. 10 (AP).—Today was regarded as a critical one in the World Conference on Faith and Order, called to consider the question of unity among the Christian churches of the world.

Behind closed doors, the delegates, who have been divided into groups, were working to reach an agreement on questions believed to be paramount to church unity.

An atmosphere of optimism prevailed, and the leaders were confident that the differences between the various elements represented would be adjusted in the reports to be submitted to the full session tomorrow.

At a meeting last night, sharp differences of opinion are reported to have been expressed, but it is said the arguments were reasoned and that greater harmony prevailed than had been anticipated by the most optimistic. Consequently, leaders voiced confidence that there would be no break-up.

COULTE WRECKED WHEN IT HITS BRICK PIER.

Early this morning a Star coupe bearing the license plates numbered 9H7965 was found abandoned and wrecked at Albany and Foxhall avenues. The car had run into one of the brick piers at the Keystone gas station and then had struck a post. The car was badly wrecked. Fishing tackle and blankets found in the car were removed to police headquarters and the car was towed to the Columbia Garage. According to the motor bureau that license number was issued to Charles D. Jocelyn of Ellenville.

Death Wins Wager.

Free Diphtheria Clinics Will Be Held in Armory

First of Series to be Held Second Week in September—Health Officer Connelly Outlines Plans for Carrying on Work at Health Board Meeting.

Another drive to eliminate diphtheria in Kingston will be inaugurated by the board of health and Dr. Daniel Connelly, city health officer, commencing the second week in September when the first of a series of free toxin antitoxin clinics will be held in the state armory. Plans for the campaign had been prepared by Dr. Connelly and he submitted them to the board of health at the regular monthly meeting Tuesday evening at the Central Fire Station when the plans were unanimously approved by the board.

One Diphtheria Case. Dr. Connelly said that at present there was but one diphtheria case in the city. It was a bad case but the child was getting better. Since the inauguration of the free clinics in Kingston about 2,500 children had been immunized from the disease.

Clinics a Big Aid. Miss B. Eleanor Easton, in charge of the city laboratory, informed the board that there was no question but the clinics had aided in decreasing the disease in Kingston. Before the clinics had been inaugurated she had always taken two hundred cultures of diphtheria and since the clinics that number had been reduced to twenty-five cultures a month and it had been a long time before any of the cultures had proven positive.

To Use Armory. Dr. Connelly said that he had obtained the use of the state armory for holding the clinics. According to his plans he will interest the various women's organizations in the city and have them appoint several women in each ward who would visit families having children and obtain the consent of the parents to having their children immunized.

Dr. Connelly said he planned to have three or four of the local physicians at each clinic. The only cost to the city would be that of having the toxin antitoxin would be furnished free by the state health department and the doctors and nurses would donate their services.

By having women at work arousing interest in each ward he believed it would be possible to have a greater number of children attend the clinics.

The clinics would be held at intervals of a week apart as in former years.

Other matters taken by the board will be found elsewhere.

DOLLAR DAY ADVERTISERS GET COPE IN VERY EARLY.

This is the vacation season and the composing room force of The Freeman is decreased. Dollar Day is fixed for Wednesday, August 17, and it will be necessary for advertisers to get their copy in as early as possible. This also applies to all advertising copy. The rules must be adhered to—all advertising copy must be in the office at least a day before the date on which it is to be published. Two or three days would be a lot better.

Garlic in Hollywood. Hollywood, Cal., Aug. 10 (AP).—Garlic does not screen well, but it has its uses in Hollywood. Mixed with bran and ground meat it is fed to mameutes and huskies working in films of the far north. Vegetarians say it prevents ailments likely to affect dogs shipped down to a place as warm as Hollywood.

Decision to Change the Plan of the Christmas Seal Sale from that of the house-to-house canvass to the Sale-by-mail was most fortunate, as the proceeds were so much greater than we have been able to finance this new work Camp Happyland as well as continuing all former activities as financing the visiting nurse, clinics, in cooperation with the State Department of Health, and providing a limited amount of emergency relief.

Last fall Mr. Hume, our very efficient treasurer from the beginning of the work, felt that he could not continue and we were forced to accept his resignation, but he was induced to accept the chairmanship of the auditing committee, so that we still have his interest and advice in our work. Charles Snyder has most acceptably filled the office of treasurer since last November.

Captain Everett Fowler and Mrs. Mary Hayes, who have both shown great interest in the work, have been added to the list of vice-presidents.

POMPEII'S FALL TOLD BY PLINY

Excavation Work by Italy Recalls Narrative by Eyewitness.

New York.—As the work of excavating Herculaneum officially began under the auspices of Italy's king the other day, old Vesuvius stirred and started into life, hurling blazing rocks and smoke clouds high into the air as if in protest at the unearthing of a city it had buried 1548 years ago. But, according to scientists, there is little danger of Mount Vesuvius repeating the terrible outbursts of 79 A. D., and so the celebrating throngs made merry, even into the night, when brilliant fireworks lighted up the Bay of Naples, vying with the bursts of flame high up in the volcano's crater. It is a different picture that Pliny the Younger draws—a picture of terror-ridden days and nights, presaged by violent earth tremors that leveled many houses before the awful spectacle of fire was dimly seen through a rain of blazing stone and ash by a doomed humanity. Yet concerning the disaster he writes with a philosophical detachment that makes one wonder at his powers of observation and presence of mind in such a panic time.

Eighteen at Time of Disaster.
Pliny the Younger was only eighteen at the time of Mount Vesuvius' eruption, yet remarkably precocious and devoted to study. Born to riches in an honorable family, the early death of his father led to his adoption as a son by the elder Pliny, his uncle, Caius Plinius Cæcilius Secundus was the youth's name, his mother being Plinia, the elder Pliny's sister, and his father, Caius Cæcilius, of a plebeian family that nevertheless numbered consuls and other men of note in its ranks. The father's health, however, probably was responsible for the fame his son achieved, for the elder Pliny, renowned naturalist and man of letters, saw to it that his adopted son was given the best of education and schooled in the literary and philosophical learning that meant so much to him.

Vespasian, first emperor of the Flavian dynasty, came to the end of his worthy rule over Rome in the year tragedy stalked in the Bay of Naples. The dissolute times of Nero had been followed with the bloodshed of civil wars under the Emperors Galba, Otho, and Vitellius before Vespasian was placed at the empire's head to restore good times. He passed on to his son, Titus, the rule of Rome, and the destruction of Pompeii and Herculaneum, in the first summer of Titus' short reign, was one of three tragedies that marred his otherwise excellent disposition of Roman government. A fire in Rome nearly as bad as that of Nero's day and a time of plague which followed it were the other two.

No Indication of Eruption.
To the Romans clustered along the beautiful shores of the Bay of Naples in villas and close-built cities in 79 A. D. there was no indication that Mount Vesuvius might erupt. Earthquakes were not uncommon in the region; in fact, one in 63 A. D. had been of a devastating nature. The Roman towns grouped along the coast—Pompeii, Stabiae, Herculaneum, and Baiae—were: Misenum, Puteoli, Neapolis, Herculaneum, Pompeii and Stabiae. At Misenum existed a naval station. Baiae was a popular bathing resort. Neapolis was one of the largest Roman metropolises. Pompeii was a more or less commercial center, and Herculaneum the summer resort of the wealthy. For this reason the task of digging it from beneath 100 feet of lava and volcanic mud is expected to reveal finer literary and art treasures than those uncovered at Pompeii in the past.

Pliny the Younger, in 79 A. D., was spending the summer with his uncle and mother near Misenum, the elder Pliny being in command of the Roman fleet stationed there. To the south and east rose the vine and tree-clad mountain slopes, completely covering Vesuvius in such manner that there was no suspicion of volcanic forces slumbering there.

Saw Death of Uncle.
Here Pliny, who began practice as an advocate a year later, witnessed the eruption and saw his uncle go to his death in an effort to rescue people caught on the bay shore closer to the volcano's mouth. Pliny's description of the disaster the world owes to the historian Tacitus, who some years later wrote asking for the details surrounding the elder Pliny's death and for an account of the dangers which the youth himself escaped.

"On the 24th of August," Pliny first wrote, "about one in the afternoon, my mother desired him (the elder Pliny) to observe a cloud which appeared of a very unusual size and shape. He had just taken a turn in the sun, and, after bathing himself in cold water, and making a light luncheon, came back to his books; he immediately arose and went out upon a rising ground from whence he might get a better sight of this very uncommon appearance."

"A cloud, from which mountain was uncertain at this distance, was ascending, the appearance of which I cannot give you a more exact description of than by likening it to a pine tree, for it shot up to a great height in the form of a very tall trunk, which spread itself out at the top into a sort of branches, occasioned, I imagine, either by a sudden gust of air that impelled it, the force of which decreased as it advanced upward, or the cloud itself, being pressed back again by its own weight, expanded in the manner I have mentioned; it appeared sometimes bright and sometimes dark and spotted, according as it was either more or less impregnated with earth and cinders."

Youth Stays to Study.
"This phenomenon seemed to a man of such learning and research as my uncle extraordinary and worth further looking into. He ordered a light vessel to be got ready, and gave me leave, if I liked, to accompany him. I said I had rather go on with my work; and it so happened he had himself given me something to write out. As he was coming out of the house, he received a note from Rectina, the wife of Bassus, who was in the utmost alarm at the imminent danger which threatened her; for, her villa lying at the foot of Mount Vesuvius, there was no way of escape but by sea. She earnestly entreated him therefore to come to her assistance. He accordingly changed his first intention, and what he had begun from a philosophical he now carried out in a noble and generous spirit."

"He ordered the galleys to put to sea, and went himself on board with an intention of assisting not only Rectina, but the several other towns which lay thickly strewn along that beautiful coast. Hastening then to the place from whence others fled with the utmost calmness and presence of mind as to be able to make and dictate his observations upon the motion and all the phenomena of that dreadful scene."

Burning Rocks Fall on Ships.
"He was now so close to the mountain that the cinders, which grew thicker and hotter the nearer he approached, fell into the ships, together with pumice stones and black pieces of burning rock; they were in danger, too, not only of being ground by the sudden retreat of the sea, but also from the vast fragments which rolled down from the mountain and obstructed all the shore. Here he stopped to consider whether he should turn back again; to which the pilot advising him, 'Fortune,' said he 'favors the brave; steer to where Pompeianus is.'"

Nearly Hugged In.
"The court which led to his (the sleeping Pliny's) apartment being now almost filled with stones and ashes, if he had continued there any time longer, it would have been impossible for him to have made his way out."

New Help For Rheumatic Sufferers

Used by Thousands

Yes, there IS help for those who spend miserable days and restless nights with the pangs of rheumatism. This new treatment goes swiftly and surely to the very seat of the trouble, and thousands have found that it gives glad relief even in the most stubborn cases. Just ask your druggist for RI-AN Tablets—and take them faithfully according to directions. You'll be surprised and delighted.

So he was awakened and got up, and went to Pompeianus and the rest of his company, who were feeling impatient to think of going to bed. They consulted together whether it would be more prudent to trust to the houses, which now rocked from side to side with frequent and violent convulsions as though shaken from their very foundations; or to fly to the open fields, where cinders, stones and cinders, though light indeed, yet fell in large showers and threatened destruction."

The trapped Romans finally decided for the fields and went out "having pillows tied upon their heads" for protection, and after going to the shore of the bay the elder Pliny suddenly fell and died. The opinion of his nephew was that death came from suffocation from the fumes in the air, but it is probable that a sudden attack of illness was responsible, since Stabiae, whither he had gone, was about ten miles from the volcano's mouth. Pliny's account of his uncle's death was followed by another letter to Tacitus in which he described his and his mother's escape.

Earthquake Felt First.
"There had been noticed for many days before," he wrote, "a trembling of the earth, which did not alarm us much, as this is quite an ordinary occurrence in Campania; but it was so particularly violent that night that it not only shook but actually overturned, as it would seem, everything about us."

Pliny and his mother were both awakened from uneasy sleep after the elder Pliny had gone and fled the house to sit in an open courtyard. There the youth began nonchalantly to read "Livy," as he says, either in "courage or folly," and he continued, although a friend of his uncle's reproved him. The tettering buildings finally persuaded them to leave the town.

Escapes With Mother.
After this a black cloud of ashes came upon them, and Pliny led his mother by the hand to a place away from the main road, so that they would not be trampled by the panic-stricken mobs in flight. He vividly describes the cries made by parents and children separated and lost in the blackness of artificial night and the oft-expressed fear that the end of the world had come.

When light at last returned Pliny and his mother went back to Misenum to await the sad news of his uncle, and he closes his letter to Tacitus with the modest declaration that his narrative is "not in the least worthy" for inclusion in history; a fact which literature today vehemently disputes.

Inasmuch as Pliny's story remains the world's most thorough and enlightening description of a disaster nearly nineteen centuries ago, and the only written account by an eyewitness.

Watch them get away with the traffic signals on city streets—watch them sweep smoothly along country roads, with wide open throttle—watch them on the steepest hills and on the roughest stretches.

Come to our showroom and make your own inspection of this remarkable automobile. Study its advanced design—typified by a powerful valve-in-head motor, with 3-speed transmission and sturdy single-plate disc-clutch. Note the unusual number of quality features. Study the details of the beautiful Fisher bodies. Go for a drive over any road.

Do that—and you will agree with hundreds of thousands of others that here is the greatest motor car value in the history of the automotive industry—

—from every standpoint, the world's finest low-priced car.

KINGSTON, N. Y., AUG. 10, 1927.

As it is figured that the sum is good for 150 billion years more, we may as well contentedly regard it as a permanent fixture.

Although Mont Blanc bestrides the Franco-Italian border line and its summit is wholly within French territory, the devoted Fascists are going to rechristen it "Monte Mussolini." That may "go" on their side of the line for some few years, but so far as the rest of the world is concerned the highest peak in Europe will remain Mont Blanc.

Guy Stevens, American director of the Association of the Producers of Petroleum in Mexico, complains that that country is "ruled by the sovereign will of one man, or at most a small group of individuals." However that may be, quite similar conditions are indicated in not a few other countries, including some of the biggest and most respectable.

MONEY-SAVING HORSES.

Contrary to widespread impression, even in the great centers of population the horse is still largely and profitably employed. In response to the expressed view that the horse is disappearing from city streets for economic reasons, Wayne Dinsmore declares in the New York Times that "the horse is remaining on city streets" for those very reasons. "The horse," he says, "constitutes the only motive power used in delivering house-to-house milk in Greater New York, because the delivery of a million dollars' worth of milk by team and wagon instead of electric truck, saves $42,400 and the delivery of a million dollars' worth of milk by one-horse wagon instead of electric truck saves $102,400." Another advantage is thus stated: "The intelligence of the horse is an important factor in milk distribution; he is able to memorize his route in a very short time and subsequently to make turns without guidance and to start and stop without driving."

In this connection the president of the United States Distribution Corporation is thus quoted: "It costs us six cents a minute to keep a big auto truck on the streets of New York. It costs us a shade less than two cents a minute to keep a big two-horse truck on the street. The two-horse truck and auto truck will haul practically the same amount." It is further stated that the use of horse trucks is particularly desirable when the trip involves waiting. The facts presented show conclusively that money is saved by the use of horse power even in New York city.

MAROONED DEER.

The description of wild life in the Mississippi flood was very great and, temporarily at least, the result may be a serious reduction in the fur product, which for Louisiana alone is said to have been twice that of all Canada, and twenty to thirty times that of Alaska, the conditions in the lower Mississippi region being ideal for the multiplication of fur-bearing animals of many kinds. Muskrats alone are said to have been worth $5,000,000 a year to Louisiana. Naturally all possible effort was made in behalf of the wild creatures. It was reported in May that the director of the division of wild life of the Louisiana department of conservation was making efforts to save the muskrats by setting afloat at many points rafts covered with straw and grasses and that thousands of muskrats took refuge thereon.

An interesting account has just been published of the feeding of some thirty deer marooned on a strip of levee hardly more than fifty yards long. When several bushels of corn on the cob and a little salt were unloaded on one end of the strip by the local game warden's orders the deer bolted wildly to the other end. Two days later it was found that the marooned deer had eaten every scrap of the food, and, though they still retreated to the far end of the levee strip, they were noticeably less fearful than they had been the first time and were prompt to return and eat the second supply of food. There is also mention of effort to scatter food for quail and wild turkeys, but little could be done to save wild life when so many thousands of men, women and children were urgently in need of help.

THE TRI-STATE COMPACT.

The country applauded when plans for the division of the water of the Delaware River were agreed on by the three states concerned, such an arrangement being regarded as benefiting state dignity and for other reasons more desirable than having intervention by the heavily burdened and ever-encroaching Federal power at Washington. But it now appears that New York alone officially approved the agreement of the treaty commissioners, New Jersey and Pennsylvania having neglected to make similar formal ratification of the compact. This is the more unfortunate because New York, having done her part and being faced by the need of prompt action, is going ahead with her plan to take water from the tributaries of the Delaware in her territory to the extent of 600,000,000 gallons daily to increase New York city's present water supply—a plan said to be better as well as $75,000,000 cheaper than another previously proposed.

But what if the delay of the two other states should be prolonged and new governments later should decline to ratify the compact? The Philadelphia Record laments the "deplorable" delay and admits that Pennsylvania "was awarded the lion's share in the proposed division, her streams that join the Delaware forming the majority of the Delaware's tributaries." The Record even thinks New York is justified in going ahead. But future disagreement would seem to be likely in the circumstances, with ultimate intervention from Washington. If the desirable plan of interstate agreement in such matters should fail in this instance, the chances of its successful adoption in others would be lessened.

DAILY LESSONS IN ENGLISH.

By W. L. Gordon.

Words Often Misused: Don't say "I purposed a change in the constitution." Say "proposed."
Often Mispronounced: cabriolet. Pronounce kab-ri-ol-ah, first syllable as "cab," "I as in 'it,' unaccented, last syllable as 'lay,' accent last syllable.
Often Misspelled: vicinity; three.
Synonyms: shine, glow, glitter, sparkle, gleam, scintillate, blaze, dazzle, radiate.
Word Study: "Use a word three times and it is yours." Let us increase our vocabulary by mastering one word each day. Today's word: MINUTE (adj.): exceedingly small; precise. "He went into minute details and explained everything."

LITERARY TREASURES DISCOVERED ON RIVIERA.

Grasse, France, Aug. 10 (R).—The Riviera antiquarians have decided that they must perfect their knowledge of English books.

A case of seventy books offered for sale at the settlement of the estate of an eccentric English woman was bid in by a French collector for less than a dollar. Finding that he could not read the books he sold them to a local dealer for ten dollars.

They were purchased the same day by an English book-buyer who estimates their value at many thousands of dollars. The lot includes first editions of Fielding, Smollett, John Milton, Sterne, Goldsmith, Lamb, Shelley, Keats and Dickens.

CAUSE OF GALLSTONES.

When we remember that a great number of people have gall stones, that gall stone "colic" is not a rare condition, and that operations for removal of gall stones, and removal of the gall bladder itself, are likewise becoming more numerous, you are apt to ask yourself just what are gall stones and what causes them.

Our research men tell us that gall stones are just the remains of the bile that has become so "dried out" or thick, that it gradually became a stone. And they blame this thickening of the bile on the fact that the gall bladder in some individuals does not empty itself often enough or completely, and thus the bile thickens and gets dried out into stones.

Now what will cause the gall bladder to empty its contents completely?

A diet rich in fats.

As you know the main work done by the bile is to break up fats so that they can be absorbed into lymph vessels, and later into the blood.

And so nature then, when fats are eaten, gets busy, and pours out the bile from the gall bladder.

Another cause besides the above, as suggested by Dr. L. R. Whitaker of Boston, is that not only is an insufficient amount of fat not eaten by some individuals, but they eat too much food, and eat too often. This means that the gall bladder does not get a chance to completely empty itself before it is called on to empty itself again. Thus some bile remains, gets dried out, and forms stones.

This has not been definitely proven but is admitted by many research men, that lack of movement of the gall bladder—stasis—due to constipation or inactivity of body and intestines, is a cause of the bile thickening and causing stones.

A few years ago when women wore high corsets, the number of gall bladder operations in women was four times that in men. This was due to lack of movement of the diaphragm, or floor of chest, squeezing the liver and gall bladder.

Since the advent of the low corset the number is now just half as many in women as before, that is 2 to 1 in men.

So the lessons for us here are simple. It means eating a fair proportion of fat daily, not eating too much food, spreading our meals well apart so that we're really hungry when we eat, and taking sufficient exercise to make us breathe deeply, or bending exercises to squeeze the liver and gall bladder directly.

Results of T. B. Work in County

Other Ostermann, who was most helpful, was removed to New York. Father Kennedy was elected in his place.

At the hospital Dr. Stelle resigned on account of ill health and Dr. Raymond Crispell was appointed in his place. Miss Le Brun resigned as head nurse and Miss May Ward, R. N., was secured in her place.

There have been several entertainments for the patients. At Christmas Mrs. Clara N. Reed as usual arranged the tree donated by Mr. Garbino and it was well loaded with presents for each patient; these were donated by many interested friends. Six times during the past year the patients have been entertained by moving pictures through the kindness of the Rotary and Kiwanis clubs, Mr. Hall being the operator. Three times the T. W. C. A. girls gave entertainments at the hospital. A musical entertainment given by Messrs. Robert and William Steuding, John Kelly and John and Robert Cullum was much appreciated.

At Easter time the hearts of the patients were cheered by each receiving two pots of plants, one from the Little Gardens Club and the other from the Home Department of Lake Katrine.

The Ulster County Garden Club has again made the windows bright and cheery with the boxes of beautiful blossoms and the bed has been filled with bright flowers by Burgetts, Inc.

The many donations, from all classes of people, acknowledged through the press each month by Mrs. Reed indicates how earnestly the people of Ulster county wish to do something to make the lives of the patients in the hospital a little happier.

Respectfully submitted,

MARY GAGE DAY,

Secretary.

"The Story of Toga", throughout the county.

From October to November, compiled the county mailing list for the Tuberculosis Christmas Seal sale.

Through relief fund furnished milk, eggs and clothing to indigent families in county and city of Kingston.

The Red Cross and Mr. Edmonston for the city are most cooperative in assisting the need.

The following nurses gave assistance at the chest clinics and I wish to assure them of my appreciation for the time given:

Mrs. Lois Gray, Junior League Nurse, Kingston.

Mrs. Mary O'Neil, R. N., Public Health Nurse, Kingston.

Miss Catherine Murphy, R. N., Metropolitan Nurse, Kingston.

Miss Anna Cassidy, R. N., Public Health Nurse, Kingston.

Miss Aletto DeGroot, R. N., Health Teacher, Saugerties.

Sister Colizza, R. N., Superintendent of Nurses at the Benedictine Hospital, kindly sent 3 student nurses to assist at each of the Kingston clinics.

Mrs. Mary Doremus also assisted at various times.

At the last annual meeting I placed before this honorable committee the question of establishing a Health Camp for the children of Ulster county. It was therefore a source of great satisfaction and appreciation when last spring, at a meeting of this committee, an appropriation of $1,200 was made from the Christmas Seal sale toward the establishment of a children's camp. It has now been in operation about one-half its term, and it is therefore, at this time impossible to give a final and detailed report. As in every new undertaking those who have been interested in it have met with some problems and difficulties. Up to date we have cared for about 50 children. "The month of July was given over to the boys, and with but few exceptions they spent a pleasant period, and at the end of their sojourn showed gain in weight and strength. They were instructed in rules of personal hygiene, which will show its fruit in future days. The personnel at camp, consisting of Mrs. Mary Carr, Miss Rose Cloonan, Miss Helen Richards and Mrs. Mary Heaps, have been untiring in their efforts to make the days of the children not only beneficial, but happy. Contributions have been generous, and we are especially indebted to Mrs. Mary Hayes for the results obtained through her efforts.

Visitors from near and far have stopped to go through the camp, and comment was most favorable for what the Ulster County Committee on Tuberculosis and Public Health was doing for the children of Ulster county who would be benefited through the life in the open sunshine and systematic care. I strongly hope the committee will consider the advisability of again having Camp Happyland in 1928.

Respectfully submitted,

LILLIAN B. HAGELWEIDE, R. N., County Nurse.

Committee Expresses Thanks.

All reports were accepted with hearty thanks for the large amount of work involved and were ordered placed on file. The committee especially expressed its gratitude to Miss Hagelweide and Mrs. Hayes in the matter of the children's camp.

The thanks of the committee were also expressed to the Ulster County Chapter of the Red Cross, especially to Dr. O'Connor and Rymph for contributing their services in the care of children at the camp.

Two letters were read by the secretary, one from Dr. Charles G. Ellis expressing his regret at being unable to be present at the meeting, and one from Dr. Aden C. Gates asking to be relieved after many years of active service of the responsibility of being chairman of the committee on visiting nurse. Dr. Gates's request was granted with thanks for past services and regret over his resignation.

The treasurer was in receipt of several just presented but unpaid bills for the children's camp, and as the results of the enterprise were so obviously worth while, the committee authorized the treasurer to pay such bills and any further indebtedness for the running of Camp Happyland this month.

Father O'Reilly's Offer.

The Rev. Francis M. O'Reilly of Rosendale then made the committee a most generous offer. It was that he would put on a benefit movie picture at the Rosendale Theatre on the evening of Friday, August 19, the gross receipts from which will be donated to the Camp, and further said that he would pay $25 for his own ticket, which called forth the heartiest applause and expressions of gratitude. Moreover, Father O'Reilly invited all of the children of Camp Happyland to see "The Fire Brigade" at the Rosendale Theatre next week Thursday afternoon as his guests, he seeing it that they were called for and returned to the Camp.

There have been many more friends than those just mentioned who have already contributed in various ways to the success of the camp whose names are not here recorded, but their kind and helpful deeds will be recorded in the healthy lives of some fifty thankful children.

T. B. Seal Sale.

Another matter brought up was that of the Tuberculosis Seal sale this year, as it will be necessary to get the lists, envelopes, etc., prepared late this summer and early fall for the approaching campaign.

Dr. Mary Gage-Day was authorized to make all necessary arrangements for such a sale.

Officers Elected.

The members closed with the election of the following officers: President, the Hon. Joseph M. Fowler; vice presidents, Sam Bernstein, the Rev. Charles G. Ellis, Mrs. Clara N. Reed, the Rev. William Kennedy, Mrs. Mary Hayes, Everett Fowler, the Hon. John A. Snyder, Saugerties, the Rev. Francis M. O'Reilly, Rosendale; secretary, Dr. Mary Gage-Day; treasurer, Charles Snyder. The president stated that he would announce the chairman of committees later.

There were present at the meeting Judge Fowler, Father O'Reilly, Mrs. Hayes, Mrs. Reed, Dr. Day, Mr. Snyder and Mr. Hume, Mrs. Hasbrouck and the Rev. Mr. Cameron of Rosendale, Miss Anna Kennedy and Mrs. Charles Snyder, the Misses Healer, Dr. Raymond S. Crispell, superintendent of the Ulster County Tuberculosis Hospital, of this city.

Lawn Social Thursday.

A garden party and lawn social will be held at the home of Mrs. Louis Hannabell, No. 5 Snyder avenue, Thursday evening under the auspices of the board of stewards of the Franklin Street A. M. E. Zion Church. The party will commence at 6:30 o'clock and there will be a fine musical program.

Highbinders' Club Bake.

John Schussler has been engaged by the Highbinders Baseball Club to prepare the clambake to be held at Eddyville on Sunday, August 21.

Oyster Not a Scavenger.

Oysters when feeding upon their shells in shallow creeks where the water is very clear it is often possible to see oysters with their shells open. When oysters are artificially propagated they are fed with minute organisms such as they are accustomed to feeding on in nature. Oysters are not scavengers.

May Postpone Sacco Execution

cern over his fate although he will chair, if the usual arrangements are followed. He has eaten heartily and has called himself freely of the death cell privilege of special meals. His chance of escaping execution admittedly rests upon the slender possibility that the governor will consider him necessary to any further steps in the case of Sacco and Vanzetti.

Machine Guns on Walls.

Outside on the prison walls were mounted a battery of machine guns ready to be brought into action should announced plans for "death watches" take the form of a jail delivery attempt.

Great searchlights also were in readiness to play on the crowd, and on the parapets and the grounds about the huge bulks of masonry that enclose the cell blocks and yards, heavy patrols of police and prison guards paced a monotonous but vigilant round.

Many Policemen on Duty.

More policemen took up post in the streets that circumscribe the walls and on the nearby bridges, closing some and guarding others. Even residents of the thoroughfares facing the prison were restricted in their movements while entrance to the prison itself was almost impossible to gain without the plea of urgent business or a newspaperman's pass.

(By The Associated Press.)

New Outbreaks Take Place.

New outbreaks ushered in the day upon which a decision must be made in the Sacco-Vanzetti case.

With the two scheduled to go to the electric chair shortly after midnight, at Charlestown, Mass., an explosion of dynamite wrecked the heart of Picher, Okla., demolishing two homes, and injuring several persons. Authorities scouted the belief radicals were responsible.

At Chicago tear gas was used by the police and one shot was fired before a parade of radicals toward the loop district was halted.

Extra Police on Duty.

Police departments were held on emergency duty throughout the day in dozens of cities, after frustrated demonstrations last night and announcements that new efforts would be made to hold such meetings up to the final hour.

Strikes Took Place Tuesday.

Protest strikes called in leading cities yesterday failed to come up to point of numbers of workers who were expected by leaders to leave their employment. At Rochester, N. Y., however, 10,000 clothing workers left their jobs, while in New York city leaders gave unchecked estimates of 400,000 being on strike.

New Disturbance in Chicago.

Chicago, Aug. 10 (AP)—Several hundred men and women were dispersed quickly by police this morning when they started a demonstration in sympathy for Sacco and Vanzetti.

The disorder originated in a small print shop when labor unions called a half hour rest period. The crowd had started to march when it ran abreast police reserves. Several men were arrested.

Americans Meet in Paris.

Paris, Aug. 10 (AP)—"To show the French people that all Americans are not in favor of the execution of two innocent men," in the words of the organizer, Rabbi Falem Fessler, a meeting of Americans to express sympathy with Nicola Sacco and Bartolomeo Vanzetti was held last night. On the platform were Prof. Harry Dana, grandson of the poet Longfellow; William Ogburn, William Trent, Henry Alsberg, who presided; Rabbi Fessler and Luigina Vanzetti, sister of Bartolomeo Vanzetti.

Send Message to Fuller.

After listening to speeches, among them one by Isadora Duncan, the dancer, the meeting resolved to send a message to Governor Fuller of Massachusetts, saying: "We Americans, assembled in a mass meeting in Paris, make a last appeal for Sacco and Vanzetti."

Agitation Subsiding.

It was the only meeting of the night in Paris, for the agitation seems to be subsiding.

Heavy Guard at Niagara.

Buffalo, N. Y., Aug. 10 (AP)—Heavy guard was placed today on all federal buildings in Buffalo and Niagara Falls, every bridge approach and ferry landing along the Niagara river and the hydraulic canals, dams and power stations at Niagara Falls, to forestall any possible trouble from radical sympathizers of Sacco and Vanzetti.

The guards will be doubled to night and will remain on duty for the next 48 hours.

The commandant of the State Troopers' barracks at Batavia received orders to detail 50 men to guard structures on the main highways leading to Buffalo.

LIGHTNING STRUCK HIGH WOODS HOUSE.

The home of Lars Peterson of High Woods was struck by lightning during the storm on Monday. Mrs. Peterson was stunned but not seriously hurt. The bolt hit the chimney, which was damaged. Passing down the chimney on its way to the ground the lightning shook the stove and shattered some windows. Fortunately no fire was started.

National Capital Facts

The height of the dome above the base line of the east front of the capitol at Washington is 287 feet 5 inches. The height from the top of the balustrade of the building is 317 feet 11 inches. The records is 97 feet 6 inches in diameter and its height from the floor to the top of the canopy is 120 feet 3 inches.

Ten Years Ago Company M Left For Washington

Ten years ago today Company M left this city for Washington, D. C., where they had been ordered for guard duty for the White House and other public buildings. At Highland the local company was joined by Company K of Poughkeepsie.

A crowd of 1,200 people gathered at the West Shore station to see Company M leave. It was composed largely of the families of the company, who spent the few minutes between the time the company entrained and the time the train pulled out in bidding good-byes.

On Thursday night, August 5, 1917, Kingston made a big demonstration in honor of the company. The demonstration began with a parade and ended with an address at the city hall by Judge Washbrouck who was introduced by Mayor Canfield.

The line of march was down Broadway from Albany avenue to Delaware avenue, then counter-marching to the city hall where the speech making took place. Veterans of other wars, business men and fraternal organizations followed the soldiers in the line.

Little Boy Shot Sunday Is Dead

Louis Ferrantino, 6 years old, who was shot through the head when a 32 calibre revolver in the hands of Carmine Caranelli was discharged Sunday, died Tuesday afternoon at 2:45 o'clock in the Benedictine Hospital where he had been taken after the shooting. Dr. Frank L. Eastman notified the police department Tuesday of the death of the boy and Coroner W. Norman Conner was notified and had an autopsy performed.

Carmine Caranelli was held by Judge A. H. Van Buren in police court Monday to await the action of the grand jury in having a revolver in his possession without a permit, and was later released by County Judge Fowler when he furnished bail.

According to Carmine's story to the police he was in the yard about to clean the revolver, which he did not know was loaded, when it suddenly discharged, wounding two of his fingers and hitting the boy, who had just walked around from the side of the house.

The funeral will be held from the home of his parents, Vincent and Concetta De Cicco Ferrantino, on North street extension, Thursday morning at 9:30 o'clock and 9 o'clock at St. Colman's Church, East Kingston, where a Mass of the angels will be offered for the repose of his soul. Interment in the family plot in St. Mary's cemetery, this city.

U. S. Will Redeem 2nd Liberty Loan

Charlottesville, Va., Aug. 10 (AP)—Plans of the Treasury for redemption of the Second Liberty Loan, of which approximately $1,276,000,000 is outstanding, were disclosed today by Acting Secretary Mills in an address before the Institute of Public Affairs at the University of Virginia. Funds necessary to retire the issue on November 15 will be obtained from sale of obligations which will mature on a future quarterly tax payment date.

Further reductions in the amount of outstanding seconds is anticipated before November 15. At the time of the sale of the new obligations they will be offered in exchange for the old.

"When the entire transaction is completed, of $3,104,000,000 of seconds, many will have been retired for cash," Mr. Mills said, "others will have been exchanged for a long time bond bearing a materially lower rate of interest, others into 3½ year short term certificates carrying a low rate of interest."

CHARGED WITH LARCENY. SAYS RING IS IN PAWN

Albert Castano, alias Al. Brown is being held at the Ulster county jail to await the action of the September grand jury on a charge of grand larceny, he having been committed by Judge S. G. Carpenter of Highland. The complaining witness is a woman at whose home Castano has been residing. He alleges that recently she had him arrested for disorderly conduct for which he was fined $25 which fine he paid. He is now charged with larceny of a diamond ring by the woman, and his explanation is that he had placed the ring in pawn at different times for their benefit and that it is now in pawn and that he has the pawn ticket.

COMPLAINT MADE TO POLICE OF LINOLEUM RUG PEDDLERS

Tuesday afternoon complaints were received by the police department from housewives that they had purchased linoleum rugs of two peddlers which were not as represented. One woman bought a rug supposed to be 5x12 feet and when she laid it on the floor found it three feet short. The borders had been cut off.

Daddy's Evening Fairy Tale

A-MARY GRAM-BONNER

THE STRANGE SHEEP

Sometimes when work was over the fishermen and the woodmen would gather together and talk about the gold that might be found, or the chest of money or the booty and treasures that had been buried now so many years.

It was only now and again that these talks would take place, for when the fishermen were not out in the dories or schooners, they were mending their nets or drying the fish. Or, between times, they were helping make small farms out of the rocky, coastline land. Then there were the lobster seasons when the lobster traps were used, and these were busy seasons. For people always liked lobsters immensely.

Too, when the men did meet together and talk, the talk was mostly of the sea and of the weather, of the storm that might be coming, of the storm that had just passed, of the last trip of fishing off the banks and of the fog and unbeatable quality of the sea.

But sometimes they would talk of the treasures that were hidden by those boats of long ago, of the gold that might be found in unsuspected places, of the seekers and explorers and pirates and conquerors and changes of victors that necessitated many a buried hidden chest of wealth. For in those olden days seamen carried money with them to pay loans, to win successes, to make bargains.

It was when the men talked of the changing days of old when the men of Viking blood first came, to be followed by the French and the English, while the Spanish and the Hollanders sailed the seas as well and stopped to see what was what in that section of the country, that the boys who were always known simply as Sam and Peter listened most attentively.

The fact that they were around during all the evening talks that took place made their elders happy that they too were going to follow the lives that had been led by their families as long as could be remembered.

And Sam and Peter had every intention of becoming seamen and living in the same cove as they now lived in—unless they moved a few miles away—when they came back from their voyages. They were splendid friends. They both felt so sure of each other, they never had to go in for too much talking, and neither of them liked too much talking.

But when they had talked they had gone over again and again what they had heard of the treasures to be found, that surely would be found, in this part of the country where so many vessels had landed or had been captured or wrecked by the storms.

Captain Kidd had buried treasure on two islands, so it was said. The people in general didn't believe in one of these islands.

"They say he never went there," Sam commented to Peter, as they dug for clams along the beach to take to the market the following day.

"They say that he did go to Oak Island, though."

"Well," answered Peter, "Oak Island has been dug into a lot, and no one has ever found anything there. Why, just think of those millionaires who have come down and held regular digging parties on Oak Island, partly for fun and because buried treasure always does sound exciting, and partly because they thought the descriptions made it seem so likely to be found."

"All right," agreed Sam, "I'm not so ready to go to either of those islands. The one near Petite Riviere is so ghostly. Not that I believe that old story of the ghost that shows herself just as a fog is about to come up, nor that she means and groans, and can be heard all around between the sounds made by the wind, but I never did like what I heard about the sheep."

"The sheep?" repeated Peter.

"Yes, you know. It's pretty sheltered over on that island—quite different from Oak Island—and the people thought it would be a good place to send the sheep over a winter. Well, they did. All the sheep were taken across in boats and left there. Maybe they fixed up a shed and took more food along, too, but it was a wonderful sheltered island and lots of grass on it. But when they brought the sheep back in the spring, everyone of them was dead."

Art Exhibit at the Governor Clinton

There is at the Governor Clinton Hotel during the month of August a real art exhibit, showing some seventy canvases painted by Ivan Summers whose home is in Woodstock. His paintings are a pleasure to look at and then to look at again and having time left to think about. Many of the canvases produce vividly the beautiful scenery of the Catskills and even more intimate scenes nearby, one particularly appealing picture being entitled "Autumn at Eddyville."

Mr. Summers has also found beauty of quite a different sort in and about Charleston and other sections of the south, so that there are lovely southern pictures, warm and rich in coloring, that people of the north would enjoy at any time, but especially during the long months of cold, while the winter scenes taken from hereabouts, surcharged with clear, cold light would surely be acceptable, particularly to southern art lovers, as well as to those who enjoy a real, bracing, snowy winter scene.

The artist has well chosen his subjects, whether the aforementioned winter scenes, bits from the Magnolia Gardens of Charleston, Catskill mountain views in autumn and summer as well as winter, quaint corners or street scenes from the Old South of Huguenot and Creole days, coexisting water pictures, etc. There is one excellent still life canvas and another small canvas that haunts one, picturing as it does a storm with driving rain lighted up with a greenish yellow sky of thunderous tendency.

Mr. Summers, who was formerly a pupil of John Carlson, is no extremist in the use of colors, but neither is he lacking in fine atmospheric effects brought to the eye by color which suggests harmony and poetry rather than jazzy overtones and resolving discords or stark tragedy, all of which are hard to live with.

Also it is refreshing to note that Mr. Summers is of the opinion that a mastery of the technique of his art is as necessary to the success of his work as is inspiration or that "self-expression" which is so fashionable just now. As a result his pictures are restful in that there is something substantial and orderly about them as well as real beauty and a suggestion of comfort in nature.

This exhibition will be open to the public for the remainder of the month, and while many of the paintings are for sale, all who are interested in seeing such an exhibit are cordially invited by Mr. Summers to come and enjoy looking at the paintings.

PHOENICIA.

Phoenicia, Aug. 10.—Recent visitors at the home of the Rev. D. B. MacBain were T. G. Warner and family of Middleburgh and Mr. and Mrs. Horatio Hale of Oak Hill.

H. N. Wheeler, U. S. forest inspector, gave a very interesting and instructive lecture on the prevention of forest fires in the local hall recently.

Mrs. A. P. Loomis and Miss Harriet attended the Reformed Church Aid fair at Ashokan, Wednesday evening.

The garden fair held by the M. E. Aid was a marked success, approximately $600 was realized. The setting of the fair was a very artistic one with its pink and green color scheme. Much credit for the success is given Mrs. B. Schwarzwald, president of the aid. The chairladies and the committees who labored under them have also been congratulated upon their work. Many thanks were given the gentlemen who rendered their services.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Conerty and family visited Mr. and Mrs. Hyland and Mr. and Mrs. P. Conerty in Hunter, recently.

Mrs. F. Brooks is convalescing at the Kingston City Hospital.

State troopers are investigating in an effort to locate the thieves who broke into the local station, Sunday evening. Not much of value was carried away but the offenders left the place in entire disorder.

Cobra Deadliest Snake

The cobra is the deadliest of all snakes. If it has bitten four or five persons in a short period the sixth bite is not necessarily fatal. Otherwise the victim dies in a few minutes.

Flower Show at Rhinebeck Fair

One Thousand Dollars and Two Silver Cups Offered as Prizes—Dutchess County Horticultural Society to Continue Its Floral Exhibit With Flower Show.

So great is the enthusiasm among the flower-lovers of Dutchess county over the flower show of the county fair this year that the committee has been obliged to reserve 16,000 square feet of tent space for the exhibit. This announcement has just been made by Nelson Coon, the manager of the flower show, which will form an important attraction of the fair at Springbrook Park, Rhinebeck, from Monday, August 29th, to Friday, September 2nd.

For the first time in the history of the fair, so Mr. Coon announces, the Dutchess County Horticultural Society will combine its floral exhibit with the regular flower show of the county fair. Anybody who saw the Horticultural Society's flower show at the Poughkeepsie armory last fall and was impressed with its magnificence can appreciate what a superlatively fine exhibit the combination flower show at the fair will be.

Work is already in progress on several out-of-door gardens that will be a feature of the show. In addition to these special features prepared by the committee, amateur growers will undoubtedly furnish some wonderful and extensive exhibits, for $1,000 and two silver cups have been offered as prizes. Among the new classes to be seen will be miniature rock gardens on trays, which are marvels of patience, complete wedding decorations, artistic fruit arrangements, and displays of indoor and outdoor roses.

Various garden clubs throughout the county have been invited to compete, and entries from these societies are bound to be both tasteful and original. A special prize list covering the floral department of the fair has just been issued and may be obtained from any member of the committee, which, headed by Mr. Coon of Rhinebeck, includes W. C. Fisher, H. E. Downer of Vassar College, Andrew Hillery of the Saltford Flower Shop, P. J. Van Nieu of the Poughkeepsie Nursery Company, and Frank Berry of the Poughkeepsie City Greenhouses. William Marshall, of the Dinmore estate at Staatsburgh, is president of the Dutchess County Horticultural Society, which is furthering the combined flower show at the fair, and which comprises over two hundred garden enthusiasts from all parts of the county in its membership.

ELEANOR GUNN On Fashions

Some Statistics Compiled by Experts in Paris and Reviewed with Reference to What Miss America Also Approves

New York.—The average woman feels more confident of her judgment in dress when she has the assurance that it is confirmed either by Paris or by some establishment of standing in her own community. Because of this, it may be of interest to look backward over the spring styles as approved in Paris, for usually, although not always, what Paris approves, the rest of the sartorial world takes without the proverbial grain of salt.

We find that carefully compiled statistics place white at the top of the list at the very smartest night clubs and restaurants in the Bois, but we also find as an interesting contradiction that about fifty per cent of the best-dressed women wore black. Pink, with black, pink including all shades of flesh and rose, apricot and peach, and we find also that green, blue, and gold were represented in interesting types, and that red, mauve, yellow, gray, ivory, and beige were trailers for evening.

White, however, must include silver and crystal, while gold naturally includes metal cloth and spangles, although in clothes as well as elsewhere it is quite apparent that all that glitters is by no means gold.

Feeling for Neutral Tones. This chart, made at the smartest French rendezvous, indicates a great falling off in red. Not so long ago every dance floor flaunted poppy-like gowns or those that were of the brightness of Chinese lacquer or of old-fashioned geraniums. Most of the blue gowns worn were in rather light pastel tones, the interesting exception being the vivid blue sponsored by Worth, an intensified sapphire.

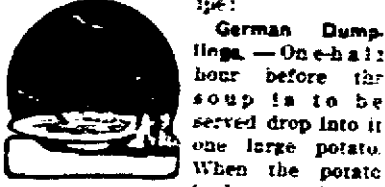

Despite a great many rumors concerning the dominance of gray for day wear, our Paris informant assures us that beige outdistanced gray for day wear, but that the general feeling for such neutral tones as sand and putty justifies one in including gray among the really fashionable colors of the springtime. Blues were more popular by day than by night, and among blues navy must be cited as first choice.

In sports circles, pink forged ahead and greens fell a little by the wayside. Grays registered rather more forcibly for sports than one might have anticipated, this being largely due to the strong penchant for natural kasha that the average Pa-

THE KITCHEN CABINET

Does the ground get rather quicker than the friendly sort of meat? Can the grocer's labor better than the cheerful fellow can? Is the meat and cheerful neighbor any cleverer than one who, about a good morning and then smiling passes on?

SEASONABLE FOODS
A good dumpling should be light as air, tasty and tender. Here is a good old-fashioned recipe:

German Dumplings.—On a half-hour before the soup is to be served drop into it one large potato. When the potato is done put it into a bowl with a lump of butter the size of a walnut, mash very fine and add a slice of grated toast, an egg, a dash of salt and nutmeg. With a fork work this into a paste and drop small pieces into the soup, boil up once and serve.

Pork Cake.—Take one cupful each of chopped fat salt pork, one cupful of boiling water, dried apple, molasses. Add the molasses to the dried apple which has been soaked over night and simmer for three hours. Add the boiling water to the pork and when all is ready mix, adding one teaspoonful each of cinnamon and soda, one-half teaspoonful each of cloves and nutmeg, one cupful of sugar, one-half cupful of raisins, three eggs, two spoonfuls of cream of tartar and flour to make a soft batter. Bake slowly at least one hour.

Sour Cream Filling for Cake.—Roll one-half cupful each of sour cream and sugar together for five minutes, add the yolks of two eggs, beaten well, one-half cupful of chopped nuts and three-fourths of a teaspoonful of vanilla. Put in a double boiler and cook until thick and smooth. Cool, beat until thick enough to spread.

Nut Tea Cake.—Take one cupful of light brown sugar, one-half cupful of butter, one-fourth cupful of milk, two eggs, two cupfuls of flour, two spoonfuls of baking powder and one cupful of nut meats. Cream butter and sugar, add milk and eggs beaten, alternately with the flour sifted with the baking powder. Stir in the nuts, using some of the flour to dredge them. Drop on baking sheet and bake in a moderately hot oven until brown.

Longer Skirts to Be Made in Paris

Brevity, However, Continues for Sports Clothes for Sake of Activity.

Paris has already signed her Letter of Fashions for late summer days and the early days of autumn, so that as fast as one successful wardrobe is completed, one's mind and eye turns to the efforts of the famous couturiers in Paris. The "dancer girl" in matters of good dressing says a Paris fashion correspondent in the Kansas City Star, come to the world through collections of models shown for the "demise" as the French term midseason clothes. But when all is said and done, the new models do not mean those exclusively for between seasons but herald, as well, coats, suits and many frocks which are to be worn in the early autumn.

One of the most important topics in the world of fashion is that of the length of skirts, and upon this pivot one of the most exciting bits of news that rushes out of the dressmaking portals. They are longer. With these few words, it seems that the whole story is told, but much more is to be said upon this vital subject in the ways of the mode. Sports clothes obviously hew to the line of brevity for the sake of activity, so that the distance of the hemline from the ground instantly segregates fashions into two wholly different classes: those of sports character and dressy types. For afternoon and evening wear Paris not only sponsors but accepts the longer skirt, an idea which glided forth in many guises for the early summer modes and which now stands as an established fact. Midseason showings have emphasized the longer-skirted frock, not only in its fluidity, but in its reality, and frankly shows that the lengthened skirt is not a fly-by-night fashion, but one that is descending upon us with avidity.

In an attractive frock named "Folie," the loose panels, which remind one of box plaits, come below the body of the dress, which in itself is longer, while the panels add a few more inches to the depth. But this is only one of hundreds of frocks shown in Paris wherein the skirt is longer. Circular skirts are both longer and wider. Draped models always descend at the point of the drape, whether this is in the center front of the skirt or one side, while fan-plaiting is inset at both sides of the skirt to give fullness as well as depth at these side points. A point of length, shown in earlier collections—the long back dip in evening gowns of chiffon—finds emphasis in the midseason shows so that one is guided into safe channels of correct fashions by choosing a simple unadorned gown in either a pastel tone or one of the small floral prints which have such great vogue this season.

As if a vote had been taken as to which color would be most popular for late summer and early autumn, the couturiers of Paris showed quantities of gray in every imaginable type of frock, coat and ensemble. Unlike the grays we used to know, which were hard and cold, the new grays have a pinkish tone, and some appear to be mixed with white, which softens them enough to become many types of coloring. Blues are passing because the strain of popularity is too great to hold them for the late mode, and in the place of blue comes golden and reddish brown shades, which taper to points of biscuit and delicate tints of champagne. Green stands among the unadorned, while purple tones, such as those of the pansy and violet ink, advance with enthusiasm in the procession of colors.

Perspiration need never offend others [if you use this purifying toilet soap]

A STIFF GAME of golf or tennis—warm sunshine. Naturally, he perspires—but he need not offend. There's no excuse for the unpleasant odor of perspiration now. It can be avoided—easily! Just change to Lifebuoy—a toilet soap so refreshing that millions bathe with it daily. It keeps you free from embarrassing odor—even in hottest weather or after vigorous exercise. Complexions stay healthy Lifebuoy's mild antiseptic lather not only purifies body pores—it purifies face pores, too, keeping complexions clear, fresh and glowing with health. Better still, this same purifying lather helps protect against disease—by removing germs from hands, as well as skin. Yet it's so gentle and soothing to the skin that men, women and children, everywhere, use it always—for face, hands and bath.

Lifebuoy HEALTH SOAP
for face-hands-bath removes germs, too

Note its clean, hygienic scent

Lifebuoy is so different from other toilet and bath soaps that even its scent is different. Not a perfume, but a clean, pleasantly hygienic scent which tells you that Lifebuoy gives greater protection.

Even before you've finished your first cake, you'll be enthusiastic over this cleanest of all soap scents, which quickly evaporates after rinsing.

Without its antiseptic, Lifebuoy would still be a wonderful toilet soap—but you wouldn't get the same measure of protection.

Extra protection—no extra cost Lifebuoy assures greater health protection and lasting freedom from perspiration odor—yet costs no more, probably less, than the toilet soap you now use. Lifebuoy is orange-red, a big generous cake. Get some today whenever soap is sold.

City Club Defeats Schillings Team

The P. O.-City team gave Schillings another crushing Tuesday evening at the Athletic Field; score 15-3. The combination team scored six runs in the first inning, driving Connelly out of the box. Alwardt relieved him and fared somewhat better, finishing the game.

Wheeler pitched for the P. O.-City team and held Schillings in check throughout the contest. Davitt and Lynch led the hitters, getting three hits apiece. The fielding of both teams was wobbly.

Picks Substitutes For Chicago Bout

Richard Will Hold Winner of Delaney-Uscudun Bout in Readiness as Possible Substitute for Either Dempsey or Tunney.

New York, Aug. 10 (AP)—The winner of tomorrow night's Jack Delaney-Paulino Uscudun fight will be held in readiness by Tex Rickard as a possible substitute for either Jack Dempsey or Gene Tunney, in the event either of the principals of the heavyweight championship bout at Chicago September 22 is unable to go on.

This was learned today, after Rickard's return from Chicago to attend to details of his New York card at the Yankee Stadium.

Some time ago the promoter signed Jack Sharkey to an agreement whereby the Boston Lithuanian obligated himself to substitute for either Dempsey or Tunney in an emergency.

"I don't expect anything to happen to either Tunney or Dempsey that would prevent them from fighting," Rickard said, "but I am taking no chances. Injuries have played havoc with some fighters at the time of important battles. I have Sharkey signed as a possible substitute and either Delaney or Paulino would make a second emergency man. The winner of tomorrow night's bout here is assured of a fight with Sharkey if everything goes well in Chicago."

Colonials Play Here Tonight

This evening at 6:15 o'clock at the Kingston Fair Grounds the Colonials will meet the Buck Ewing All-Stars. In the games played this season the All-Star outfit has proven that it is the faster team, taking four out of the five games played.

Art Smith will undoubtedly be sent to the mound tonight to cut the colored players' lead.

Thursday evening at Stamford the Culliton-Robins Club meets the Oneonta team.

Friday evening at 6:15 o'clock at the Fair Grounds the local Knights of Columbus team will oppose the Colonials.

Sunday the Colonials will go to Brooklyn, where they will meet the strong Bushwick team.

Schillings.

The Cubs stayed three full games ahead of the Pittsburgh Pirates, who trounced the New York Giants, 7-6, in a loosely played game. Errors by Horasby and Jackson aided in the Corsair victory, but it was the ever-reliable Paul Waner who drove home the winning run in the last of the ninth. The Giant defeat brought the record of McGraw's club on its western trip to seven victories, against four beatings.

Only two games were scheduled in the National League.

Lou Gehrig's 35th home run in the ninth inning saved the Yanks from their first shut out of the season. The Philadelphia Athletics greeted the Huggins at Shibe Park by pounding Dutch Ruether and George Pipgras to all corners and took an 8-1 victory. It was the first game for the Yanks on their third and last road trip. Rube Walberg pitched masterful ball for the Muckmen, allowing only six hits.

Bebe Ruth went hitless but Gehrig, in addition to his home run, pounded out a two-bagger. The buster is now three homers ahead of Ruth in their duel.

Ty Cobb was active in the downfall of the New Yorkers. He drove in the first run, slammed out three hits and played brilliantly in center field.

Hollis Thurston pitched Washington to a 4-2 victory over Cleveland. Garland Buckeye lasted seven innings on the mound for Cleveland. Buckeye has yet to win a game from the Senators. He was touched for 11 hits and gave three bases on balls, but Washington had 11 men left on bases. The Senatorial victory gave Harris' men an even break in the four game series.

The Boston Red Sox, anxious to increase their winning string of six straight games, were rained out against Detroit. Other American League teams were not scheduled.

HAMBLETONIAN STAKE RACE AROUSES GOSSIP

New York State Fair Again Secures Trotting Classic Surpassing Kentucky Derby.

12 RACE FOR $70,000 PURSE

The thousands of people who enjoyed the spirited Hambletonian Stake race last fall for the largest purse ever offered anytime or anywhere in the world for trotters will be glad to know that this famous race has been secured for the New York State Fair again this year during the week of August 29 to September 3. It will start the race program of the week on Monday, the first day of the fair.

Hambletonian Stake No. 2, as it is officially called, has put the State Fair race most at Syracuse in value ahead of the much vaunted Kentucky Derby and other prizes promoted on the thoroughbred turf. Again this year it will amount in the neighborhood of $70,000.

This year's Hambletonian is the chief topic of gossip in all quarters where trotters and pacers are being trained. Were it not for the fact that Ruth M. Chenault, 2:07 1/2, the outstanding two year old trotting star of last season, is indisposed, the horse men would not experience the difficulty which faces them in selecting the favorite. This silly won all her races against numerous of the colts and fillies that are listed to compete in the 1927 Hambletonian, so her absence really adds spice and interest to the event.

J. I. Marker of Chicago, secretary of the Hambletonian Society, in a recent letter to J. Dan Ackerman, State Fair Director, says: "While it is difficult to predict the outcome of a horse race far in advance, you can be certain that the 1927 Hambletonian field will be comprised of from 12 to 16 contestants and that a very high grade contest is bound to result."

Considerable speculation was aroused among the huge crowd of spectators last year in the grandstand over the origin of Hambletonian. Some word went around that it came from the great statesman Alexander Hamilton. Hambletonian is a horse, not a man. The original Hambletonian was an English thoroughbred horse foaled in 1792, and while the trotting Hambletonian emanated from English sources the name is merely copied after the horse referred to and bears no other significance. Hambletonian is the accredited father and fountain head of the so called "standard" breed of trotters. When the unrivaled stake was originated its sponsors desired to honor the great progenitor's memory, hence the application Hambletonian 10, the numeral being his registration identity, is recognized as the foremost stallion of all time. He lived the greater part of his 28 years in Orange County, N. Y., and left a name as a sire which will forever give him the outstanding position as an equine that is held by Shakespeare as an author.

HORSE SHOE CHAMPIONSHIP

Title Holder to Be Decided at New York State Fair Tournament, Syracuse.

Horse shoe contests are now going on in counties throughout the State for the selection of each county representative who will compete for the championship of New York State at the State Fair, Syracuse, August 29 to September 3.

More interest is being shown in the so-called "barnyard golf" each year and there is every indication that this year's competition will be keener than ever. The contest is under the direction of E. R. Eastman, editor, The American Agriculturist, New York City. The new title holder is a competitor in the preliminary contests now going on in every part of the State.

Tactics and Strategy

Tactics is that branch of military science which deals with the movements of troops when they are face to face with the enemy or actually engaged in battle. It must be distinguished from strategy, which deals with the general conduct of a campaign.

Culliton Hurls Albany to Victory

Bud Culliton on Mound for Albany Senators Wins Over Chicago Americans, 8 to 5, at Albany Stadium.

Bud Culliton of the Kingston Colonials hurls for the Albany Senators of the Eastern League against the Chicago Americans at Chadwick Park, Albany, Monday. The "Eks" Day exhibition game was capped by the Senators 5-3.

Although the big leaguers with their regular lineup except the substitution of Hunnefeld for Peckinpah at short, found Culliton for fifteen blows, the local pitcher gave the 2,500 spectators a thrill in the ninth when he fanned Ward and Hunnefeld, after Burkett had thrown out Falk. Culliton's colleagues were one run in the lead when he performed the feat.

Neither team did any scoring until the third inning when the Chicago Americans registered three runs. They sent three men over the plate in the sixth and two in the eighth. The Senators also made their scoring debut in the third when Jack Smith, who caught his first game in three weeks because of an injured hand, stepped to the plate and registered a circuit clout with Joe Lehman on third, after four Senators had previously crossed the plate. There were two outs when the homer sailed over left field fence. The lead piled up in the third by the Senators did much toward bagging the contest for them. Their other runs were corralled in the fourth and sixth stanzas when they registered two and one respectively. Smith's homer in the third, besides counting for two tallies, marked the fall of Stewart, who was substituted on the mound by Barnabee, a south-paw, who finished the game.

Bud Culliton retired four of the White Sox to the bench while Stewart and Barnabee each registered one strikeout.

Oscawana Gets Third Money.

Oscawana, the chestnut gelding owned by John J. Cuneo of this city, Townsend Ackerman driving, got third money in the 2:09 trot at the Orange county circuit meeting at Goshen on Tuesday. There were heavy starters and the track was heavy because of rain Monday night. The purse was for $5,000. Victor Frisco got first money and Trumpet second money. Time, 2:07, 2:07 1/2, 2:06 3/4.

Skull Fractured
In Storm Mishap

William Keenan of Veteran was seriously injured during the storm Monday when the wagon in which he was riding was struck by an automobile driven by Andrew Staub of Saugerties. The accident happened on Ulster avenue. Saugerties, while both vehicles were proceeding toward Woodstock.

According to Saugerties police Staub claimed that as he was driving he was temporarily stunned by a flash of lightning, which caused him to release his hold on the steering wheel. Before he could again get the machine under control, it had rammed the rear end of the wagon. The wagon was shoved ahead, striking the horses which became frightened and dashed away, throwing Mr. Keenan to the ground. His nephew, Joseph Keenan, was called and took the aged man to his home in Veteran.

Dr. B. W. Gifford was called and he found that Mr. Keenan had received a fractured skull and fractured leg. He is expected to recover.

WHAT ARE WE?

A COLLEGE professor has dug up from the misty past the twenty-five century-old doctrine of Democritus to show us that the "life entities" theories lately announced by Edison are not in the leastwise new or novel.

Edison, as you have read, propounds the idea that life is the result of the association of an innumerable number of invisible, immortal "entities" which while they are in "combination" continue the existence of whatever thing they compose.

These combinations may in one case be a plant, in another a human body. In either case when death comes these entities separate and except in the case of mankind resolve themselves into other shapes and forms.

In the human those entities which were characteristic of the person and which constituted his personality, may remain associated and constitute in their continued existence the after-death life.

An interesting theory, but not a new one.

There have been many guesses, beliefs, theories, suppositions as to what we are, what constitutes personality, and what lives after death.

It is, true that 25 centuries ago Democritus, a very learned man, evolved the theory that everything in the universe was constituted of invisible atoms. These atoms he believed to be self-existent, that is, no atom depended upon another for its life and was therefore everlasting.

The varying association of atoms he believed made up the various forms of life which continued only as long as the association was maintained.

Democritus had, for those times, some very original ideas.

He was the son of a very rich family in Thrace, and when he came into his fortune he spent it all traveling and studying, declaring at the end of his journeys that "I of all men have traveled over the greatest extent of country and have listened to the most experienced of men."

He had probably traveled a less distance than you would go in a summer vacation motor tour, but he was held by those who knew him to be "almost divine" in his wisdom.

Democritus was known as "The Laughing Philosopher," although history gives no reason for the epithet.

Maybe he, in his wisdom, laughed at the impossibility of proving his own theories, as perhaps Edison smiled as he made public his doctrine of "life entities."

"What we are" and "Why we are" have long puzzled mankind.

After centuries and centuries of honest studying, earnest investigation and wisest theorizing we are still as far from an accurate determination of established fact as when we began.

We know we are, and there, so far as absolutely provable fact goes, we stop.

We know that we are conscious of a surrounding universe which one philosophy tells us is real and another tells us is unreal, existing only in thought.

Science tells us that all matter is energy, that the indivisible atom of Democritus is easily divided into its electrons, which are not matter at all, but electricity and that matter is really nonexistent.

What we seem to see, it may be we do not see at all, and what we seem to be, may, after all, be not at all what we are.

SUMMERY GOOD THINGS

DURING the warm weather we like to think of juicy fruits, chilling dishes and desserts that are refreshing without being too much work. With a small freezer one may prepare the most delicious desserts and have such variety that the family will always look forward to the dessert with anticipation.

If you wish to start off your dinner with something especially cooling and unusual, serve the honey dew or cantaloupe melons topped off with a tart sherbet or ice.

Lemon Ice.
Take one and one-third cups of sugar, three cups of water and one and one-half cups of lemon juice. Boil the sugar and water five minutes, add the lemon juice and cool. Freeze as usual. This will make one quart of ice.

When fine firm heads of lettuce can be secured, no other vegetable or fruit is needed to make a tempting salad. With the following "dressing" dressing, it will be fit for the most honored guest:

Thousand Island Dressing.
Take one-half cup of olive oil, the juice of half a lemon, the juice of half an orange, one tablespoonful of grated onion, three tablespoonfuls of chopped parsley, one-fourth teaspoonful of mustard, six olives chopped or sliced, one teaspoonful of worcestershire sauce, one-half cupful of mayonnaise and one-fourth teaspoonful each of salt and paprika. Put all the ingredients into a jar, after having mixed the dry ingredients and dissolved them in the fruit juice. Put on a rubber and seal. Shake until the mixture is smooth. Set into the ice-box to chill and shake again when ready to serve. Finely chopped hard-boiled egg, green pepper and various other vegetables may be added for variety.

Figure Figs.

Better Travel on Ellenville Road

As a result of the recent visit of Clarence A. McLaughlin of Ellenville to the Kingston Business Men's Association, there was a conference held at 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon by E. Frank Flanagan, president of the Chamber of Commerce, Louis S. Coe, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, and business men of the city with Mr. Robert, representative of the State Department of Public Works, pertaining to the conditions on the Kingston-Ellenville road now under reconstruction.

The meeting was very satisfactory and the men present were assured by Mr. Robert that while it was the duty of the contractor to regulate and maintain traffic on such road, still in the future the State Department would insist that the contractor regulate traffic in accordance with the orders of the State Department. This will assure the business men of the city and the automobilists more satisfactory travel than has been in the past, and no one need fear to go to or from Ellenville along this road.

Mr. Robert requests that any real complaint in the future be sent to him at New Paltz.

Horn Heralded Coming of Early Locomotive

The earliest locomotives had nothing more in the nature of a warning of the engine's approach than a tin horn blown by the engineer at more or less frequent intervals, but under some circumstances this proved inadequate. The resulting volume of sound depended largely upon the lung power of the engineer and the direction and force of wind.

On a spring morning of the year 1833 a farmer was driving to market with a load of butter and eggs and, being unfamiliar with locomotives, he halted on the track too long and failed to hear the warning signal from the tin horn, whereupon the whole outfit was scattered over the landscape.

The bill which the company had to pay was regarded as staggering and Ashland Baxter, who was director of the company concerned, paid a visit to George Stephenson at Alton Grange to confer with the great inventor to ascertain if something in the nature of an adequate warning could not be invented to keep people off the track. The result was that Stephenson made the steam whistle which was immediately adopted for all locomotives then in use and has continued as a permanent feature of all locomotives built in the meantime.

Comments on Britons'
Lack of Individuality

Among the visitors to this country just arrived from the West is a man who left England 35 years ago. He has prospered abroad and now comes to take his case in his "old country."

What are the differences he notices chiefly in our national make-up from the people he left a generation and more ago? He tells you frankly: "You're all alike, as like as two chips. There is a similarity of faces and expression, of occupation and idling. I find less individuality among people here at home now, less character, less sharply defined natures. I think the fact that so many of you play some sort of game is responsible for a general lack of character. Games don't develop anything but your muscles. They cramp the character, I'm sure."

"In times gone by I can recall nine out of ten of my father's friends who were real characters, individuals. They had a zest in life and blazed their own trail, whether it was footpath or high road. It was their own way of living. They had a definite reading of life. Then every person you met was a new experience. Today everybody's cut and dried, an economical factor, eh?" And his cheery laugh mitigated the sting.—London Chronicle.

Buying of the industrials embraced a wide list, but the motor, mercantile, public utility, steel and farm implement shares have the best exhibition of group strength.

An increase of 88,768 tons in the July unfilled orders of the United States Steel Corporation helped to create bullish sentiment, as did the increase in freight car loadings in the last week of July over the preceding week. Call money was again in plentiful supply at 3 1/2 per cent.

Bethlehem Steel crossed 62 to the highest price in four years on buyers influenced by hope of an early resumption of dividends, and expectations of increased business through the decision of the Coolidge administration to go ahead with its naval building program, held in suspense pending the outcome of the Geneva Conference. Republic and Vanadium Steels also recorded good gains.

General Railway Signal ran up over five points and Otis Elevator six half in the early trading. Current strength of Brooklyn Edison and Brooklyn Union Gas, both of which touched new highs, was accompanied by unconfirmed merger rumors. Other issues to climb into new high ground were American Express, Case Threshing, Canada Dry, Commonwealth Power, American
Rochester, American Linsed, White
Sewing Machine, Reynolds
Tobacco B and Yellow Truck.

Buying of the rails centered largely in such seasoned dividend payers
as New York Central, Canadian Pacific, Union Pacific and Atlantic Coast Line.

Navy Aviators Killed in Crash

San Diego, Cal., Aug. 10 (AP).—
Lieutenants George Covell and R. W.
Waggoner, U. S. N., who left here today in an airplane they had entered in the Duke flight to Honolulu, were killed when the ship crashed into Point Loma, near here.

Local Death Record

The funeral of Mrs. Maria Du-Bois, widow of Louis H. DuBois, was held at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Willard Jenkins, New Palitz, Sunday, August 7, at 2:30 o'clock. The Rev. E. D. Miner officiated.

Lucy, wife of Giovanni Assamp, of 117 Ainslie street, Brooklyn, died at the Beneficence Hospital today, aged 55 years. The remains will be taken to Brooklyn for funeral and interment Thursday by Undertaker N. J.
J. Murphy.

The funeral of Harry TenHagen, one of Rosendale's widely known and highly respected residents, who died at his home there Tuesday, will be held Thursday at 2 p. m., from his late residence on Main street.
Interment in Rosendale Plains Cemtery. Mr. TenHagen is survived by one sister, Fannie, with whom he resided, and three brothers, Louis of New Palitz, Supervisor Ruter Ten-Hagen of Rosendale and F. William TenHagen of Southington, Conn.

The funeral of Adam Kemler, who died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Walter Hoeger, 10 Valley street, was held Monday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock from the late residence, 21 Summer street, with interment in Wilkwyck Cemetery.
Mr. Kemler is survived by his wife,
a daughter, Mrs. Walter Hoeger, and a son, Theodore, of Danemore;
two granddaughters, Pauline S.
Kemler and Lillian Hoeger, and three grandsons, Edward, Charles and Raymond Hoeger, all of this city.

John B. Meyer, for the past 38 years a highly respected citizen of Rosendale, died Tuesday evening following a long illness. Mr. Meyer was well known in this city and leaves a host of friends. He is survived by three sons, John and William of Connelly and Herman Meyer of Grantwood, N. J., also two daughters, the Misses Emma and Julia.
Meyer at home, and one granddaughter. Funeral from his late home Friday morning at 9 o'clock and 9:30 at St. Peter's Church where a requiem Mass will be offered for the repose of his soul.

Then Look at Your Watch

To tell time by the stars, explains an Iowa professor, "First look at the North star and the two points in the Great Dipper which are on a line with it. Imagine that in the sky there is a huge clock face with the hour hand pointing to these pointers. Read the time to the nearest quarter hour. To this figure add the number of months since January 1. Double this and subtract the result from 164. If the result is more than 164, subtract it from 404. The result is the time in hours, after noon. If the time is greater than 12, it means that it is after midnight, so subtract 12 and you have the time in hours, the forenoon."
As regards the day, of course, by the time you have done all this it will be the middle of next week.—Exchange.

Long List of Disasters

The greatest disasters from 1900 to the present time arising from natural causes include: St. Pierre and Martinique, volcanic eruption, May 8, 1902; San Francisco, Calif., earthquake, April 18, 1906; Sicily and Calabria earthquake, December 28, 1908;
China earthquake, December 16, 1920;
Japanese earthquake, September 1,
1923; Santa Barbara earthquake, June 29, 1925; Shenandoah wreck, September 3, 1925; Lake Denmark, N. J., explosion, July 10, 1926; mine disaster at Ishpeming, Mich., November 3, 1926; snowslide near Bingham, Utah,
February 17, 1926.

"Cheap" Only in Name

American visitors to London learn to their sorrow that Cheapside is
"cheap" only in name.
Cheapside was the principal London street market, when retail trade was carried on around old St. Paul's cathedral. The names of many of the thoroughfares leading into the western end of Cheapside as, for instance, Milk street, Broad street, Wood street and Honey lane, are reminiscent of this period.

Timing the Doctor

The doctor had received a hurry call from the home of the Robeys, who had their first baby. Arriving the doctor found the young father on the doorstep, watch in hand.

"What's the trouble?" asked the doctor.

"Nothing this time, Doc. My wife just wanted to see how quickly you could get here in case the baby was taken sick suddenly. You made it in four minutes this time."

Emblems of Authority

Liters were the attendants of the magistrates of ancient Rome. They carried staves, around the handles of which were bound a bundle of rods.
These represented law and order and the power to punish offenders. The liters preceded a magistrate, as a counsel or a praetor, in the streets of Rome, a sort of bodyguard to protect the magistrates and to emphasize authority.

STAGES ARE LATEST IN "HIGHWAY LINERS"

Here is a new "highway liner." It was built for service on stage routes to northern points out of Los Angeles. It differs radically from anything else ever built in stages, in that the driver sits in a pilot house high above his heretofore usual position. The palatial vehicle is complete with kitchen and dining service, lavatories, and every comfort for long distance travel.
It is equipped with a radio and "observation car," conveniences that are afforded by a mezzanine deck.

SPARK PLUG IS TROUBLE MAKER

They Are So Well Constructed They Require Little Attention.

The lowly spark plug, seemingly such an innocent part of your car's mechanism, may sometimes be a trouble maker, even though spark plugs are so well constructed nowadays that they require little or no attention in thousands of miles of driving.

Because of their efficiency, spark plugs are not likely to be suspected at first, when something goes wrong with the engine.

How a Spark Plug Works.

The function of a spark plug is simply to introduce into the combustion chamber of the cylinder two wires with a gap between them, across which gap an electrical spark jumps.
This spark ignites the gas mixture in the cylinder to furnish the driving power of the car. If the current delivered to the spark plug does not have high enough voltage, of course no spark will jump across the gap of the two wires, and the mixture will not be ignited.

If the plug itself is defective, this is easily detected. All that is necessary is to lay the plug, with cable attached, on the cylinder head, and to start the engine. If a spark is seen jumping the gap between the wires, the plug is functioning, provided the spark is of sufficient intensity.

In this connection it is well to know how to set the gap between the wires.
According to usual practice, this gap is .025 to .03 inches wide, but this sometimes varies with the kind of engine. To set the gap, a thickness gauge may be used, but if not available, a worn dime or a pasteboard card is used. Find the gap measurement that gives best results and set the gap to that distance.

Attacking Carbon.

Carbon often accumulates on plugs, causing a short circuit, which means that the current does not jump the gap and that no spark results. To remove carbon, take out the plug and soak it in gasoline, for an hour and then scrape off the carbon.

Be sure that spark plugs are screwed tightly into the cylinder holes —otherwise, the plugs will become overheated because of the "compression leak" around them. A worn gasket may also cause such a leak, even if the plugs are screwed down tightly.
To find out if there is leakage around the plug, squirt some oil around the joint, and if bubbles appear when the engine is running, the plug is leaking compression.

Cracks in the porcelain insulation of a plug will make it refuse to fire at the proper point. To discover a cracked plug, run the engine in a dark garage, and the cracked piece will appear as a luminous line on the plug.

Bureau Discovers Plan to Eliminate Car Noises

From experiments with the soundproofing qualities of partitions, to the field of automobile construction, would seem at first thought a far cry. Nevertheless, investigations at the United States bureau of standards have developed a fact which may prove of tremendous interest to automobilists, and in particular to that large proportion of automobilists who now ride in closed cars.

The greater extent to which motor and chassis noises are observable within closed cars of certain makes, often referred to as the "sounding board effect," seems to have a very definite explanation.

It was found at the bureau that partitions made with wood framing and covered with lath and plaster transmit less than one-hundredth as much sound as those of lath and plaster on metal framing. The motorist's deduc-tion from this is quite obvious.

The more rigid the connection between the chassis and the material which forms the interior finish of the car the more easily sound is transmitted.

Carry Extra Spare Tire and Lock It Onto Auto

If your rims are made with the lugs welded onto them, you can carry an extra spare tire and lock it so it cannot be stolen, by making two bolts as shown in the illustration. Only one need be drilled for a padlock, however.

The iron rod should be as large as will pass through the holes in the

Two Bolts Like This, One Without the Lock, Will Permit Carrying an Extra Spare Tire.

lugs; and a piece of pipe, threaded, filed and drilled as shown, completes the job. As the bolts hold the extra tire tightly against the one that you regularly carry, there is little chance for chafing unless you are going on a long trip. In that case it would be worth while to slip a short piece of pipe over the bolt that is cut to act as a spacer, so as to hold the tires
apart.—Popular Science Monthly.

Comfort and Utility Is Big Aim in Fixing Car

What the man or woman will wear on the motor trails should be dictated not by the usual Dame Fashion but by utility, comfort and neatness, according to an article in the Field and Stream Magazine.

"There are more comfortable things to travel in than silk hose and high-heeled shoes," remarks Field and Stream Magazine. "While loud costumes never quite fit into the scheme of nature's well ordered color harmonies, that doesn't mean that a fellow has to look like a tramp, either," warns the article. "He can be a full-fledged tin canner and still present a neat, respectable appearance so his friends don't pat their watch pockets when he comes about."

Although the day of the motor duster and voluminous veil is past, still there are clothes and clothes for motoring, in the opinion of Field and Stream Magazine. The most practical attire it believes, is arranged somewhat along the following lines:
B. V. D. underwear; leather puttees, flannel shirt, khaki riding breeches,
rummy shoes, and leather coat.
Khaki is also recommended for the women either in the form of one-piece dresses, knickers, or riding pants.
Cotton underwear, according to the Field and Stream article, is to be preferred to woolen because on hot days
it is decidedly cooler, while on cool days it can easily be supplemented by extra outside wraps.

AUTOMOBILE ITEMS

Motor fuel is to be made from sweet potatoes and molasses in a plant now under construction in Queensland, Australia.

All motorists should securely lock their cars to avoid trouble, even though they leave them but for a minute or two.

Street cleaners in Portland, Ore., who work at night have been provided with headlights and tail-lights to protect them against being run down by motorists.

George Fernie, Rumanian speed car driver, is a dead "ringer" for the famous Barney Oldfield, except that he doesn't carry a cigar in the southwest corner of his mouth.

California motorists have a real menace to contend with in a roadside weed known as the puncture vine. It has a double spiked burr that spells holes for tires if run over.

Suspect One Man
Of All Burglaries

It is now thought that the same man or men who blew open the safes in the Ulster & Delaware railroad stations at Asboken, Phenicia, Pine Hill and Grand Hotel on Sunday evening also broke into several railroad stations along Delaware & Northern railroad and also the Cook's Falls station on the Ontario & Western railroad. State Troopers working on the case are led to believe that the man or men were working this way, and they have a man under suspicion as the one who pulled all of the jobs.

Courtney Decides To Postpone Flight

Adverse Wind Reports Cause English Aviator to Postpone Flight for Another Forty-eight Hours.
Southampton, England, Aug. 10
(AP).—Owing to adverse wind reports, Captain Frank T. Courtney decided to postpone for 48 hours his flight to Valencia, Ireland, on the first lap of his transatlantic flight.
He had been studying weather conditions since 3 a. m. at which time his flying boat, the "Whale" was made ready for the hop off.

Charts and weather reports showed forty mile head winds over several parts of the proposed route, but the fliers waited hopefully,
thinking conditions might improve.
Courtney and the two men who are to accompany him, R. F. Little, mechanic, and F. W. Downer, aviator, had donated their flying logs, but as unfavorable reports continued to arrive, the trio decided it would be unwise to start. They went to their homes and to bed.

Society Notes

Surprise Shower.
Union Center, Aug. 10.—On Wednesday evening, August 3, Miss Rose Freer was given a surprise miscellaneous shower in honor of her approaching marriage. A large number of her friends gathered at her home and enjoyed a most pleasant evening, presenting the bride-to-be with a wealth of useful and beautiful gifts. Refreshments were served and all left for their homes wishing Miss Rose all future happiness.

Celebrates Birthday.
James Foundas, of 167 Green street, the popcorn and peanut merchant at John and Wall street, was host to a pleasant gathering held at Forsyth Park Tuesday afternoon in honor of his birthday. He was a royal entertainer, furnishing bountiful refreshments to all. Among the guests were James Matthews and Gus Peschos of Newark, N. J.; Nick Bolocos, Ray Shore, L. I. Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Nekos and family, Steve Lardios and family, Mr. and Mrs. John Stamatakos and family,
Mr. and Mrs. James Nekos and family, Mrs. Sarros and family, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Cunaules and family and Nick Brulak of this city. The guests are fellow countrymen of Mr. Foundas, the host, nearly all being born in the same section in Greece. Best wishes for many more happy birthdays were extended to the host.

Shyster Lawyer Had Overlooked a Point

When Musa Ben Adhem was poor, as he was crossing a plain one day, he came to the house of the widow Zaidah, who was poor also. Musa knocked and told the widow of his hunger, and she gave him two hard-boiled eggs, all the food she had.

In after years, when Musa Ben Ad-hem had grown rich, Abdullah, the shyster lawyer, persuaded the widow to sue him, not for her two eggs alone, but for the two chickens which they would have become, together with all the chickens' eggs and offspring, a vast sum equal to the whole of Musa Ben Adhem's fortune.

"Where is the defendant in this case? Why isn't he present?" the judge demanded sternly.

Fifty Thousand Killed by Quake In Interior China
Another Brief Communication Received From Chongyuan Who First Reported May 23 Tragedy to the World—Because of Difficulty of Communication Full Story Remains to Be Told.
Peking, Aug. 10 (AP).—Fifty thousand dead in the Lanchow district of Kansu province as a consequence of the disastrous earthquake of May 23, is the latest Chinese official report as sent from Lanchow by Monsignor Theodore Buddenbrock, of the Steyl Mission at Liangchow. The clergyman, who sent the first details of the terrible quake in China's "wild west" province, says in a communication dated July 1: "We are sitting in the midst of the misery produced by the great quakes of May 23. Shocks are continuing daily, but without damage owing to the wholesale destruction of May 23. Half-starved persons are wandering about the district. The Chinese are aiding as much as their resources will permit."

Prince of Wales Saves Right Hand
Prince and Party Stop at Brandon Tuesday Where They Greet Townspeople and Members of Canadian Legion—Prince Uses Left Hand.
Brandon, Man., Aug. 10 (AP).—The Prince of Wales is saving his right hand. He has had so many hands to shake since he arrived in Canada that he frequently held out his left hand in greeting during his brief stay in Brandon yesterday on his westward journey.
Among those he greeted were 251 members of the Canadian Legion who were lined up on the platform when the train arrived. Each of the ex-service men was given a hearty handshake by Premier Baldwin of Great Britain, who is traveling westward with the Prince of Wales and his brother, Prince George.
There were no speeches, no formal replies to formal addresses of welcome, the distinguished visitors just strolling along amid the crowd, laughing, chatting and shaking hands. The crowd at Brandon gave them an enthusiastic greeting.

Changes Mind
Edward H. James, wealthy Boston man, refused to pay a fine when arrested as a Sacco-Vanzetti sympathizer. Ninety days in jail, however, appeared like too long a stretch, and he changed his mind.
The Melungeons, a race of people said to be living in the mountains of east Tennessee, are supposed to be an offshoot of the so-called "Croatian Indians" of North Carolina. The name "Melungeon" is probably from the French "mélange," meaning mixed. They are of mixed Indian, white and negro blood, according to ethnologists, although the original admixture of blood occurred centuries ago and the history of these people is obscure. The Melungeons, who in general resemble Indians more than negroes or whites, refuse to attend negro schools and churches. At the same time they are socially ostracized by the whites. Although they are as dark as mulattoes, their hair is straight. For the most part, the Melungeons are farmers—Exchange.

Effort Alone Gets Results
Character is the individual's peculiar way of dealing with life. Character is to life what efficiency is to working. Indolence plays a persistent hand in human nature. Effort is the sole reality from which any definite result can be expected. If failure comes, in spite of added knowledge, nothing remains but further effort. We have only to renew effort in the light of still better knowledge.—Psychology Magazine.

Radio Reception
The Loomis Radio school says: Generally speaking, signals will come in loudest from those stations which are located in the directions toward which one's lead-in points. Instead of in the direction pointed to by the free end of the antenna. Those stations will be heard next loudest which are slightly off this line. So far as the college knows, the direction of the aerial in regard to the cardinal points of the compass has very little effect on radio reception.

Who's Random?
Twas a hard and bloody battle at the pistol range. At last the instructor called: "Fire at Random!"
After the cartridge had ceased one freshman still stood with his pistol at "ready," a full clip in it.
"Hey, you!" yelled the instructor. "Why didn't you shoot?"
"I'm waiting for Random to stick his head around the parapet."

Theme and Technique

Anglo-Scotch Idiom
The way in which Scottish and English idioms differ are legion, and anyone attempting to make an exhaustive list would probably find the proverbial three score and ten a span too short for the task. Sir James Wilson, who has been making a study of the dialects of central Scotland, cites as examples: Whereas an Englishman "oversleeps himself," invites a friend "to tea" and asks: "What will you take?" a Scot "sleeps in," invites you "to your tea" and hospitably inquires: "What are ye for?"

Work Delayed At White House

Washington, Aug. 10 (AP).—Repairing the White House has turned out to be pretty much like repairing almost any house.

Minor contingencies which could not be foreseen when the specifications and estimates were made have delayed completion of the reconstruction of the third floor and roof, begun last March, and have added about $10,000 to the cost of the work.

Nevertheless, the heavy construction is expected to be finished early in August, with only the painters remaining on the job. They are not being hurried, since indications are that President Coolidge will not return to Washington before September.

Original plans called for all workmen to be out of the White House by July 15. The specifications worked out by Army Engineers for the work, however, were necessarily based to a large extent on assumptions. Details of the wooden trussing which supported the third floor and of the roof construction could not be examined until much of the ancient material had been removed. This could not be started until the Executive family moved out. When it did become possible many surprises were encountered by the engineers and their plans had to be altered at many points.

Furthermore, since the object of remodeling the third floor was to make it as pleasant and habitable as possible, many details of arrangement and construction could be determined finally only on the basis of aesthetic considerations as the work proceeded, with frequent minor changes involving delay and additional expense.

POULTRY FACTS

POULTRY NEEDS CARE IN SUMMER

Though egg production drops in hot weather the poultry flock should receive attention so that best results may be secured when production starts on the upgrade again.

"The decline in egg production begins in June," says Dr. B. F. Kaupp, head of the poultry department of the North Carolina agricultural college. "We estimate that each hen will average about 13 eggs during this month. The breeding season is also over in June and it is a wise plan to sell all the old male birds not needed for another season. Those males that are wanted should be placed in a separate field with plenty of range and a comfortable small house. The male is not needed for egg production, and when he is kept away from the flock, infertile eggs are produced. An infertile egg keeps better in hot weather than a fertile egg. In any case, it is wise to gather the eggs frequently and market them at least twice each week. For best prices, they should be kept clean and cool."

Doctor Kaupp suggests that it might be a good idea to caponize a few of the early cockerels and grow them out on range this summer for the holiday trade. Capons are in demand around Thanksgiving and Christmas, and with a little care, a good trade in capons may be built up. When birds are dipped to control body pests, a warm day should be selected and a solution of 1 per cent coal tar dip used. The house should be well ventilated. Open the rear ventilators but do not permit a draft to blow across the birds.

Red mites play havoc with the vitality of the farm flock, states Doctor Kaupp. For this reason it is not a bad plan to paint the perch poles with pure dip or some used cylinder oil that has been diluted with kerosene. All birds need plenty of shade and fresh clean water during summer, and the poultryman who does not provide these simple necessities makes a serious mistake, advises Doctor Kaupp.

Cause of Heavy Death

Rate of Young Chicks

Ninety per cent of the sick and dead chicks received by the veterinary department of Purdue university during March and April of this year, had bacillary white diarrhea. These chicks came from 1,000 flocks. In most cases the letters that accompanied the different lots indicated that the owners did not suspect the true cause of the heavy death rate, and most of them believed that the feed was responsible for the loss.

The name "bacillary white diarrhea" is somewhat misleading. Many poultrymen believe that it is a disease of the intestines and the sick chicks always show a diarrhea. As a matter of fact, there is very little evidence of bowel trouble, either in the form of symptoms or lesions, in the most destructive outbreaks and the highly acute cases. Birds that survive the infection for several days or a week show lesions in the liver, lungs, heart and intestines. The lungs are commonly affected. This gives rise to difficult or labored breathing, and poultrymen have frequently mistaken bacillary white diarrhea for brooder pneumonia, a less common disease.

Teaching Chicks to Roost

Prevents Crooked Bones

Teach the chicks to roost. Crooked breast bones may be the result of too early roosting on roosts which do not support the body, but a 2 by 2 inch scantling with the upper edges slightly rounded, placed at about a foot from the floor at first, will not cause crooked breast bones and will prevent huddling in corners and piling up. Teaching the chicks to roost is better: it means going to the brood coops before dark and putting up the chicks that have gone to the corners. But once they are roost-trained, there is little danger of chicks piling up even though we have the occasional cold night which plays havoc with chicks in cold coops.

Time to Caponize

The time to caponize is when the cockerel is 1½ to 2½ pounds in weight or two to four months of age. Slips result when a part of one of the testicles is not removed. Beginners sometimes have as many as 50 per cent of slips. Next year you will probably have better success. When a capon fails to develop it is not because they were caponized too young but probably due to worms or some physical defect not apparent to a casual glance or examination.

Intestinal Worm Cure

Tobacco dust may be used in the treatment of intestinal worm infestation of young chicks after they are six or eight weeks of age. It should be used as it is with older birds, 1 pound of dust of not less than 1 per cent nicotine content to each 50 pounds of mash. It should not be assumed that either chicks or older fowls have worms in sufficient numbers to do harm without an examination of the interior of the intestines of one or more dead birds.

Plans Economy in Coronation Cost

Formal Crowning of New Emperor of Japan in 1928 Will Be Marked by Simpler Ceremonies Than Heretofore.

Teiko, Aug. 10 (AP).—Preparations are under way for the great coronation to be held in Kyoto in November of 1928 when Hirohito, the young successor of the late Emperor Taisho, will be formally crowned as the ruler of Japan.

Committees are being appointed to take charge of the event and accountants are figuring out a coronation budget of several million yen which will be presented to the Diet that convenes next spring.

Unlike the coronation ceremonies for Emperor Taisho, no special foreign envoys will come to Japan for the Hirohito accession. The Japanese government has requested the various nations not to send extraordinary representatives, as in the past, and it is expected that the ambassadors and ministers stationed in Tokyo will be delegated to attend in the extraordinary capacity.

The request that special representatives be dispensed with is said to have been due to Japan's wish to economize.

The officials in charge intend to exert every effort to simplify the ceremonies in order that the least possible cost may be incurred. But even with the utmost economy, it is feared that the Hirohito coronation expenses will be greater than those of the Emperor Taisho which were approximately 10,000,000 yen, because general costs have increased.

A number of special carriages are to be built and blooded horses imported for the occasion. The music to be played during the various ceremonies is to be especially composed by both Japanese and European musicians. The music to be played at the grand banquet following the coronation will be purely Japanese, the orchestra using flutes, harps, drums, gongs and other native instruments. At a subsequent banquet to be held later in the evening, the army and navy bands will play Western music exclusively.
